THRACE STILL ISSUE

Lone Issue Still Barring
Way to Settlement of Near East Tangle.

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 5.—The report of the first two days preceding the allied general's conference with Turkish nationalists at Mudania have produced a sanguine feeling here, some believing that an armistice clearing the way for peace conference is already assured.
It was even reported yesterday that a protocol establishing an armistice had been accepted and signed but authentic confirmation of this is lacking. Latest information in a dispatch which left Constantinople shortly before midnight which was to the effect that notwithstanding the general hopeful status of the situation, the question of Thrace was still barring the way to a settlement.

TRUCE WILL FORBID ANY STRAITS FORTIFICATION
(By the Associated Press)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—According to a telegram from the Turkish sources in Mudania, the agreement on the neutral zone reached by the allies and Turkish representatives provides that no fortifications shall be constructed on either side of the straits of the Dardanelles and that the military operations of the British in Turkey shall cease immediately.

ABDICATION PAPER OF CONSTANTINE FOUND
(By the Associated Press)
ATHENS, Oct. 5.—The document signed by King Constantine abdicating the throne of Greece, which yesterday was reported lost while supposedly in the hands of the printer, has been recovered, it is announced.
The mysterious disappearance of the document caused a sensation, inasmuch as Constantine's friends made a great point of the assertion that on his previous departure from Greece he has never signed an abdication.
The recovery of the document signed last week will therefore, it is thought, settle any controversy that may arise.

Robinson Picked to Succeed Schutz as Crop Bureau Chief

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—Carl H. Robinson, agricultural expert, has been appointed by the U. S. bureau of crops and marketing statistics to succeed H. H. Schutz as representative of the bureau in Oklahoma.
The appointment was announced at the state board of agriculture recently after the board had been notified of the promotion of Schutz to be chief statistical expert for the Southwest, with headquarters at Houston, Texas.
Robinson recently arrived in Oklahoma City from Sacramento, Cal., where he has been assistant statistician. He is experienced in southern agriculture, it was announced, since he formerly served with the bureau at Richmond, Va. Schutz announced he would leave Oklahoma City to enter the Houston office about the middle of this month.

FEDERAL OFFICERS ARE KILLED FROM AMBUSH

Wife Makes 5000 Mile Journey
Only to Find Hubby's Love Dead

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 28.—For two years Mrs. Bessie Brehms looked forward to a reunion with her husband, William, who had left her in Prague, Czechoslovakia.
He had come to America, the land of promise, to prepare for her and their children a comfortable home. Brehms was a musician, a talented one and war-stricken Prague offered little.
So daily, up until a few weeks ago, Mrs. Brehms waited. At first letters came frequently. He had obtained a good position. Soon she would join him.
And she worked and saved to hurry the day when she might hasten to his side.
But as the months flew by letters became fewer and fewer. Finally they ceased. Mrs. Brehms became worried.

With her meager savings, augmented by funds supplied by friends she was able to obtain passage for herself and her children. Perhaps something had happened to him. She would rush to his side.
She landed in New York and hurried here to the last address her husband had given her. She found him almost immediately.
But it was in a studio apartment with two women as his companions. Scorn instead of affection greeted her when she saw him. He rebuffed her. Not even his two small children could change his attitude. Mrs. Brehms returned to New York.
Now Brehms is being held by authorities here while extradition papers are being prepared to bring him to New York to face charges of abandonment brought by his disillusioned wife.

GOV. HARDING AND POLICIES FLAYED

Bankers Urged not to Give
Reserve Board Chief
Their Approval.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Senator Helfin, democrat of Alabama, today made public a letter to President Thomas B. Adams, of the American Bankers Association, urging that the bankers, in convention at New York City, should not adopt a resolution endorsing W. P. G. Harding of Alabama for reappointment to the federal reserve board.
Senator Helfin said that he had heard a rumor that Governor Harding and friends had been "active for weeks trying to select delegates to the American Bankers Association who would favor the passage of a resolution endorsing him for reappointment."
"If they should try to do such a thing," Senator Helfin wrote, "I trust that you, the honored head of a great American Institution, will use your greatest influence to prevent such action. I can think of nothing that would so injure the great banking fraternity of America with the masses of the people, as a deliberate endorsement of your conduct of W. P. G. Harding."
Senator Helfin's letter reiterated his charges made in senate speeches that an alleged credit deflation policy while Mr. Harding was governor of the federal reserve board had paralyzed business, closed industries, driven millions of workers from their jobs, caused thousands to kill themselves and destroyed property valued in the millions.

NEWS ADDS TWO
STAFF MEMBERS

Mrs. Byron Norrell Will Handle Society; Biles is Sales Manager.

The News management is pleased to announce to the readers the addition to the editorial staff of Mrs. Byron Norrell, who will be society editor. Mrs. Norrell is a brilliant writer, well acquainted in Ada and Pontotoc county and will doubtless have one of the most interesting sections of the already newsy paper.
Those who know of social events should telephone Mrs. Norrell any day between 10 a. m. and noon at 993 or after 1 p. m. at 307.
Another valuable addition to the growing News family is J. H. Biles, who is to be sales manager of the commercial printing department and will give some time now and then to advertising.
Hugh is an Ada product, coming here while a mere lad. He came up through the Ada schools and the East Central Normal, and has served his time in the class room. He knows everybody and everybody knows him. Hence it is not necessary to introduce him to the folks.
His experience particularly fits him for this line of work, for in addition to knowing type, paper and the needs of commercial firms, he is an artist with the brush and knows how to "get up" a "lay out" to give the best effect.
In one year the population of one of the important watch making towns in Switzerland has decreased by nearly 1,500 on account of the depression in the industry.

City Commissioners Wind
Up Long, Hard Work on Memorial Plans.

WILL GET MONEY SOON

Signatures Corrected by Officials so Work
Can Start Soon.

The entire city commission was in Oklahoma City Wednesday to make final arrangements to complete the exchange of bonds to the amount of $110,000 for cash in order to grant contracts and purchase the site for Ada's memorial convention hall.
Many delays have been encountered but the one worked on Wednesday is the last between the commissioners and their goal. It has been a long fight for them. The memorial project started early this year immediately after their election to office.
Hill and son have the contract to build the hall and material will be put on the grounds as soon as money is received. A $2200 cash forfeit is in the hands of city commissioners to assure the sale of bonds.
A site on South Townsend avenue has been selected, the sale has been confirmed, and all that is now necessary to make it the city's property, is paying the money. When this is done, the city can proceed with the sale of old buildings on the site and give the word to contractors to proceed.
$15,000 for Furniture.
About $85,000 of the fund will be used in constructing the building, $10,000 will be used to purchase the site and the remaining $15,000 will go to furnish the hall. American Legion men will be given a home. Rent from two national guard companies is expected to be great enough to keep up the building's expenses.
Mayor W. H. Fisher, Finance Commissioner Charley Deaver and Street Commissioner Walter Smith were in Oklahoma City Wednesday to look into the matter and confer with the attorney general and representatives of the eastern financial interest purchasing the bonds. They report that the matter is progressing nicely and that the sale soon will be consummated. The only thing objectionable in the bonds, according to buyers, were the signatures, which are being corrected.

OFFICERS LEAVE TODAY
ON LONG NON-STOP FLIGHT

(By the Associated Press)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 5.—Because of heavy fogs prevailing in the mountain districts beyond Temecula early today Lieutenant John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly abandoned their proposed non-stop San Diego to New York City flight in the big army monoplane T-2, and returned to this city announcing that they would try for a new endurance record.
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 5.—Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly, army aviators took off at 5:56 a. m. today in the giant monoplane T-2 in their attempt to fly from Rockwell Field, San Diego, to New York without stopping.

DARKNESS IS WINNER
YANKS AND GIANTS BATTLE
10 INNINGS TO DRAW
IN SECOND GAME

SCORE BY INNINGS					R H E
Giants	300	000	000	0-3	8	1
Yankees	100	100	010	0-3	8	0

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Giants and Yankees had battled ten innings to a tie score today when darkness called a halt. The Giants might have been able to play their half of another inning, but the light was fading fast and umpire Hildebrand, realizing that the Yankees would have to go to bat near darkness, called the game when the score stood 3-3.
More than thirty thousand persons saw a pitchers battle in which Barnes and Shawkey fought it down to the last period. The Giants made three runs in the first on singles by Groh and Frisch and a home run smash by E. Meusel. They did little with Shawkey thereafter. James used a slow ball throughout the contest.
The Yankees scored their first run in the opening frame when Bancroft made a bad error and Pipp came through with a single. Ward made a home run in the fourth and the Yankees scored a third time on doubles by Ruth and R. Meusel in the eighth.
First Inning
Giants—Bancroft was thrown out by Ward; Groh singled for the fourth consecutive time in the series and went to second on Frisch's single; Meusel hit a home run into left field bleachers, scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him. Young flew out to Witt, Kelly fouled out to Schang. Three runs, three hits, no errors.
Yankees—Witt was thrown out by Groh; Dugan went down on Bancroft's error, advanced to second on a sacrifice by Ruth and scored on Pipp's single. R. Meusel retired the side by hitting a long fly to Young. One run, one hit, one error.
Second Inning
Giants—Stengel singled and advanced to second on a single by Snyder. Scott started a double play on Barnes' easy roller, eliminating Snyder, Scott to Frisch to Kelly. Stengel pulling up at third. Bancroft hit a long one to Ruth. No runs, two hits, no errors.
Yankees—Schang was thrown out by Frisch. Ward rolled an easy one to Groh and Frisch headed off Scott. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Third Inning
Giants—Groh drew a free pass. Frisch sent his compliments in a long one to Ruth. E. Meusel let another drop in the same place: Young teased Shawkey for a free pass but Shawkey snubbed Kelly and struck him out. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Yankees—Shawkey was thrown out by Groh. Witt dropped an easy one to Groh. Dugan lifted a long one down the right field line for two sacks. Ruth strolled and the side retired when Pipp sent a soft one to Barnes. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Fourth Inning
Giants—Cunningham, batting for Stengel, and Barnes were fooled by Shawkey in this round. Snyder popped to Dugan. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Yankees—R. Meusel fouled out to Snyder. Schang went out swinging. Ward made one of the longest drives in the history of Polo Grounds by sending one to the top of the left field bleachers for a round trip. Scott flew out to Frisch. One run, one hit, no errors.
Fifth Inning
Giants—Bancroft lined out to Pipp. Scott took Groh's grounder and threw him out for the first time in the series. Frisch was given a hit on his bunt down the first base line. He stole second and went to third on a past ball. Scott threw out E. Meusel. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Yankees—Shawkey lined out Cunningham. Witt was thrown out by Barnes. Dugan singled and the side returned on Babe Ruth's roller to Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Sixth Inning
Giants—Young singled but was forced by Kelly. Shawkey to Ward. Cunningham flew out to Ruth and Snyder did the same thing. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Pipp fouled out to Snyder. R. Meusel walked and went to second on Schang's sacrifice. Frisch to Kelly. Ward went out swinging hard. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Seventh Inning
Giants—Ward flew out to Barnes. Bancroft grounded out to Pipp and Groh popped to Ward. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Yankees—Shawkey and Witt fanned and Scott grounded out to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Eighth Inning
Giants—Frisch flew out to Dugan. E. Meusel popped to Pipp and Young lifted a long one to J. Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Yankees—Dugan was thrown out by Barnes. Ruth doubled to left field garden and stole third. Pipp flew out to Cunningham and Ruth then scored on a double by R. Meusel, who was forced to slide for the bag at second. Schang flew out to Cunningham. One run, two hits, no errors.
Ninth Inning
Giants—Kelly popped to Dugan. Smith, pinch hitting for Cunningham, whiffed. Yesterday he hit into a double play with the bases loaded. Snyder was thrown out by Ward. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Yankees—Ward whiffed trying for another homer. Scott singled to center but was forced by Shawkey. Barnes to Bancroft. Witt singled to left but the side retired when Dugan went out swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors.
Tenth Inning
Giants—Shawkey threw out Barnes. Bancroft singled to left center but was thrown out trying to stretch it into a double. Ward threw out Groh on a brilliant play. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Yankees—Ruth fouled out to Snyder. Pipp was out to Kelly. R. Meusel lifted a short one to Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Game called at end of tenth on account of darkness with score tied, 3 to 3.

ANOTHER BIG GAS
WELL COMES IN

American Oil & Refining
Co. Extends Field to East
Part of County.

Ada has another big gasser. The American Oil and Refining company has brought in the well on the Phelps-Witherspoon farm in the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 17-4-6. The initial production of gas is 12,500,000 cubic feet at a depth of 1,277 feet. The rock pressure is 425 pounds a square inch.
The drill penetrated the sand only two feet, and no indication of the depth of this sand is given.
This well is a bit more than two miles north of Ada, near the M. K. and T. tracks. It is east of the famous gasser on the Jeter farm. This extends the gas field materially and indicates that it will be several decades before Ada will face a shortage of gas.
This same company is drilling another well just south of the big gasser on the John Balthrop farm, in section 16.
The Canadian Petroleum company is ready to resume drilling around 1,100 feet in the test in section 16, in the extreme southeast corner near the Colbert schoolhouse.
Activity in the Bebee field is not pronounced now. The Carter well is closed down for the time being. Ollie Lancaster is making satisfactory progress in his well west of the discovery well.

RESTRAINT WRIT
DEPENDS NOW ON
SHORT'S ACTIONS

Attorney General's Return to Capital Eagerly Awaited Today.

SWINDALL IS AUTHOR

Authority of Judge King to Issue Temporary Order Doubted.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—The return of Attorney General George Short to the capital was being awaited today by W. C. McAlester, secretary of the state election board, before he will determine what action is to be taken as the result of the issuance yesterday in Woodward county of a temporary restraining order forbidding election officials from placing the name of M. C. Garber, republican congressional nominee from the eighth district, on the ballot for the November election.
Mr. Garber, who lives at Enid, told a local newspaper over long distance telephone today that he had not been served with legal process in the case and declined to make a statement.
The order was obtained by Charles Swindall, who was defeated by Garber in the primary election, charging that Garber spent in excess of the amount allowed him by law for a congressional campaign expense. It came from the district judge, in whose court the application for the order was filed.
Jurisdiction Questioned.
Secretary McAlester declared that the question of whether Judge King had the power to grant an order applied for in another court has arisen. He expressed the desire to have the attorney general rule on the case before any action is taken.
Several citizens from Enid with B. C. Simons, attorney for Garber, went to the capital today to confer with election officials regarding the order.
As the secretary of the board had already decided to await the return of the attorney general before acting in the matter, the conference was postponed.
The attorney general is expected from Tulsa late today.

BILLINGS MAN IS KILLED AS TRUCK
GOES INTO DITCH

(By the Associated Press)
BLACKWELL, Okla., Oct. 5.—John Huffman, an employee of the Midcontinent Petroleum company of Billings, was killed last evening about 7 o'clock four miles south of Blackwell when his truck loaded with casing turned over in a ditch, crushing him.
Members of a party of Scottish Rite Masons en route here from Guthrie to assist in midnight funeral services of E. S. Foster, arrived at the scene of the accident to find Huffman's body pinned beneath the wreckage and assisted in bringing it to Blackwell. It was necessary to use another truck to move the wrecked truck and heavy pipe before the body could be recovered.
Huffman was about 50 years old and presumed to be without a family. On his person were found Masonic lodge and chapter receipts from Monticello, Ky., and papers showing him to be a member of the consistory.

Sought in Petition

(By the Associated Press)
EASTLAND, Texas, Oct. 5.—Charging that he has shown gross carelessness in connection with his duties and that he allowed gambling and whiskey selling at Pioneer, an oil town in this county, suit was filed today in the 88th district court seeking the removal of Sam Nolley, sheriff of Eastland county. The relators were members of a committee appointed at a mass meeting here recently to start out proceedings. The petition charges that the sheriff has absented himself from the county twice since September 18.

MORE GAS WELLS

The bringing in of another big gas well near the city is but another indication of the resources here. This well extends the gas territory considerably to the east and gives a wide area for development. With economical use of this best of nature's fuels, the Ada field ought to last for a half century. Big industries can now feel safe in bringing their money here and building factories, knowing that a fuel supply is to be at hand for a long time to come.

We believe within a comparatively short time the Chamber of Commerce will have to get additional room for factories. At this time there is enough ground for several new enterprises, but we really look for a dozen new concerns here between this and another fall. The fuel is here, the water is here, the railroads are here, we are building roads. In fact, there is everything in and around Ada a city needs. May we suggest that there has never been a better time for boosting than the present?

We sometimes imagine that Ada is well known to every man and woman in the state. However, one does not have to cross the state line to hear people ask where Ada is located; never heard of it before. A delegate to the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge heard several others en route here lamenting over the prospect. They thought Ada is just a wide place in the road and figured that they would probably have to sleep in the streets and live on hamburgers. Now that they have been here they will carry a different report back home. This is one of the big advantages of conventions. They are the means of showing outsiders just what sort of a place a town is and then when questions are asked they can give some first hand information.

The Democrats have always had the reputation of scrapping among themselves, but now a full grown row has developed between Garber, who won the congressional nomination from Manuel Herrick and Swindall, who ran second. Swindall charging that Garber spent more money in securing the nomination than the law permits, has secured an injunction against Garber's name going on the ticket in November. If this sticks there will be some row. Go to it, boys, it will never do for all the squabbling to be confined to one party. The two or three months Swindall served in congress evidently gave him a taste for the life at Washington and he wants to go back. If they can't settle the row the Democrats have a good man in the district that can handle the job.

An exchange carries a cartoon depicting what might have been had the Greeks whipped the Turks. King Constantine is making a triumphal entry into the city, acclaimed as the world's greatest hero. No doubt the king often pictured himself the same way but it was all a mirage and the reality finds the king an exile from his country lamenting on what might have been. Yes, the world would have hailed him as a fighting successor of the Roman Emperor Constantine who established himself at Constantinople but he failed and has gone the way of disappointed men who could not realize their dreams of greatness.

When we think of a world's series or the cotton market, we are reminded of an observation Ben McKinley recently made. Ben says he has noticed that cotton usually does exactly opposite to what everybody expects. In other words, if everybody seems to think it is going up, a man had better sell instead of buy. Possibly this rule should have been followed by some of the Ada fans who bet on the Yankees Wednesday.

A Dallas concern in an advertisement for a stolen auto offers a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the thief or $1,000 if some one kills the thief. The owner of the stolen car evidently thinks it would be cheaper to pay $1,000 for a dead crook and know that his depredations are over than just send him to the penitentiary for a term.

Stillwater is reported to be out of water. If this state of affairs continues it will be in order to re-christen the town Still-no-water.

We have heard it said that no one loves a fat man. How about the tailor? A fat man should be a joy to him when he orders a new suit.

It is all right to judge a man by his friends, but it is also well to consider who his enemies are.

Many men who have failed in life may have valid excuses, but the world accepts none of them.

Let a NEWS WANT AD get it for you.

What Do You Put in Your Job?

(Searchlight)

Every man or woman who works has three marketable assets—brain power, muscle power and good will. He can put his head, his arm and his heart on the job. Ordinarily an employer bids for his services, the price fixed covers only the worker's brain and his brawn. His good will is either taken for granted or left out of consideration.

Of late years we have heard a great deal about standardizing and efficiency. Routing of work has been brought to an exact science. Time clocks and checking devices of various kinds have been invented to eliminate the evils of waste, carelessness, tardiness, etc. But in spite of all the efficiency and mechanical experts, the great fact remains that the laboring classes are, in many places, as dissatisfied as ever, and there is still an annual loss caused by this dissatisfaction possibly sufficient to more than take care of the debt incurred by this country as a result of the great war.

Certainly improved machinery and efficient management in and out of the shop are going to continue to develop, but the real economy of the future—the kind that will carry an organization to the highest success—is the kind that comes from the heartfelt desire on the part of each individual to do his level best for the firm that employs him. Such a feeling is inspired only through confidence and good will. It manifests itself only when the working heart is in sympathy with his arm and his head.

More For Physical Education

(Kansas City Journal)

An increase of $683,000 in annual expenditures for physical education in the United States is announced in a report of three years' progress made by the National Physical Education service, the national committee of which includes Walter Camp, William Kent, Dr. Charles Mayo, Dr. J. H. McCurdy, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, Dr. Thomas A. Storey and S. Brinckerhoff Thorne.

The committee announces that twenty-eight of the states have enacted legislation partially effective in providing physical education and health training for school children. The campaign will be continued with the aim of giving every youngster in the nation opportunity for health and normal physical development.

Although the progress during the last three years has given this fundamental training to 500,000 additional children, yet, at the present time, only slightly more than one-tenth of the 22,000,000 of school age are being reached. State campaigns will be pressed during the coming winter in eight of the Middle Western states which have not yet enacted legislation.

The committee

The inadequacy of many of the state laws indicates that federal cooperation with the states will be necessary in order to insure the early extension of physical education for all the school children of the nation. Draft statistics, reporting more than one-third of the young men physically disqualified for full military service, showed the result of neglect of youthful training for physical fitness. It is pointed out that the federal government as well as the states and local communities, has the responsibility for seeing to it that the generation now being trained in the schools shall be adequately prepared to carry the responsibilities of national citizenship in peace times as well as in times of war emergency.

Congress will be urged to take action in line with the following pledge, which was included in the platform of the present majority party: "A thorough system of physical education for all children up to the age of 19, including adequate health supervision and instruction, would remedy conditions revealed by draft, and would add to the economic and industrial strength of the nation. National leadership and stimulation will be necessary to induce the states to adopt a wise system of physical training."

Reforming Fraternities

(Owosso, Mich., Argus Press)

At their national council meeting, held at West Baden a few days ago, members of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity decided that "horseplay" should be barred in future initiations. Other fraternities have reached the same decision, and it seems probable that within a few years the rough work, once considered such a necessary part of the initiation, will be but a memory. For many years going to college has been attended by some unpleasant experiences for freshmen. Those who accepted the experience in good nature usually survived the ordeal and reached the period where they inflicted similar punishment on the freshmen of later years. The college careers of others were spoiled by their disinclination to submit to such things. Rough work, in fraternity initiations and the hazing of underclassmen went hand in hand. College authorities took a determined stand against hazing, and the freshmen has an easier time. At some schools, especially the military academies, he still comes in for a course of treatment that tests his powers of endurance. Fraternity horseplay has taken various forms. There was a time when the chief part of this unofficial ritual was the application of paddles. Now and then somebody got hurt—in frequent death was caused. The freshman of the future may not have to drink tobacco sauce, swallow an oryster to which a string has been tied, submit to a paddling, insult a policeman, slap a college president on the back or walk three miles with beans in his shoes, but some substitute may be found to remind him that he has been initiated.

State Supreme Court Lays Down Ruling on Who is a Contractor

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—An independent contractor is defined as one who "exercising independent employment, is not subject to control of the employer except as to the results he produces," according to a recent decision of the state supreme court.

The decision over-turned a ruling made by the state industrial commission in making a workmen's compensation award.

The ruling was in a case carried to the court by the Producers Lumber company of Bristow and the Associated Employers' Reciprocal, protesting an award made to F. W. Butler, employee of L. E. Elston, who was shown to be a contracting teamster working in the Bristow oil field.

By a further ruling in the same case the supreme court declared that a decision of the industrial commission is final as to all questions of fact, but only when there is evidence to support the fact, and not if there is insufficient evidence, when the case may be reviewed as a matter of law.

The commission awarded Butler $389.40 compensation from the lumber company, holding that he was an employee of the company. The court, in overruling the award held that Butler was an employee of Elston who acted as an independent contractor in the teaming he did for the lumber company.

ARMORE MAN KILLED AS PAINT VAT BURSTS

ARDMORE, Oct. 5.—W. H. Sutton is dead and W. J. Stoneburner and Will Hill are badly burned as the result of an explosion of a vat of paint in the plant of the Ardmore Paint and Oil company late yesterday afternoon. Sutton died in a local hospital last midnight.

Ethics of Insurance Discussed by Hardin in Talk to Salesmen

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—The ethics of salesmanship as they apply to the writing of life insurance was the subject of an order recently by E. W. Hardin, state insurance commissioner.

Commissioner Hardin said it had been brought to his knowledge that certain life insurance agents had made it a practice to check up on rival agents and, after the rivals had taken applications for insurance, offered the prospective purchasers policies purposefully made more attractive than had been offered.

The commissioner declared such practice is "unethical" and is in violation of the insurance code governing "bad practices and twisting" and that such practices must cease in Oklahoma.

"My attention has been directed to the practice of life insurance agents in some localities in the state wherein said agents are guilty of approaching persons who have already given another agent an application for a policy and to solicit such persons to refuse to accept the policy already applied for and to apply through them for such protection as they desire," the commissioner wrote in his order.

"In our opinion such a practice is unethical and is in violation of our insurance code governing 'bad practices and twisting.' It is therefore ruled by this department that this practice must cease in Oklahoma. All life insurance agents and life insurance companies doing business in this state will take notice and govern themselves accordingly."

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthol-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritations, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Menthol-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream. (Adv.)

TOO MUCH MEAT HURTS KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

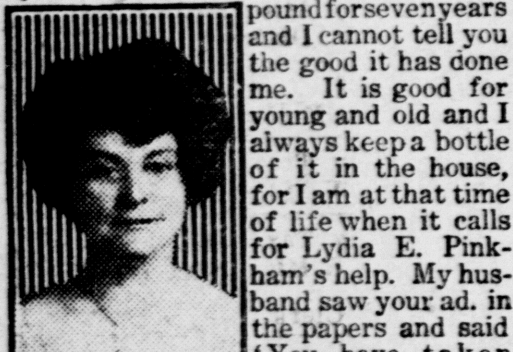

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. (Adv.)

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for several years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the papers and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. R. J. LINTON, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

SHAWNEE BISON COME TOMORROW

East Central Gridsters are Ready to Open Season on Home Field.

East Central College today completed arrangements for the opening football game of the season Friday afternoon on College Field. Bisons of Shawnee Baptist University are coming for the initial battle.

In view of the fact that the opening game is promising for the locals, the Bullfrogs, college pepsters, are busy with plans to stage a demonstration tomorrow. Crowd at the game tomorrow is expected to break all records.

Coach Thompson's men Wednesday afternoon completed his pre-season training. A heavy signal practice and work-out was given following light scrimmages Monday and Tuesday. He is greatly pleased today with the prospects. Some of his men have surprised him with the quick development of their speed and knowledge of the game.

Sheppard, baseball and football star of Wetumka high school, has joined the squad. He is given credit for being the team's fastest man. Thomas, an experienced quarterback, is also showing up to advantage as well as Brown, a seasoned lineman from Arkansas University, another addition to the team. Several other good fellows are to appear in uniform Friday afternoon.

Opens at 3 P. M.
The game starts at 3 o'clock. Bullfrogs and college students held a pep meeting at the college last night and will hold a downtown parade tonight. Preceding the game tomorrow they will stage another demonstration. During the game a number of stunts will be pulled for the amusement of fans. Another public initiation will be held and several sentences will be pronounced and executed by the organization.

Frisco Vernon is expected to go in at fullback for the opening game. Thompson is giving him Cunningham, Kelly, Smith, McCoy, Thomas and Montgomery for the back field. Sheppard, Culver, Cassidy, Gatlin, H. Smith, Robinson, Caps, Lee, Reed, Brown Riddle, Parker, Snow, A. Kerr and Boyce were named for the line.

Purcell Men to Play.
Baptist University's lineup contained the names of Ray Wilcoxson and his brother from Purcell. Both are known here, having played baseball here this season. They were strong men on the Purcell high school team and are showing up well with the Bison herd.

Among the regulars from the Bisons of last year are Parker, Beck, March, Orchid, R. Wandall, G. Randall, Sumpter, Malcomb and Heichelbeck. Although the Baptists lost their first game to the Chillico Indians 13 to 3, they have made additional progress in their work-outs this week. In tomorrow's game they will have the advantage of having played at least one game this year, while Thompson's men have never entered the field as a team.

Students will be given the privilege of selecting a name for Coach Thompson's hopes for the 1922 football team. He was confident and satisfied with the way his men had improved during the past week.

Tom Andrews of Chandler stated that he has attended Grand Lodge meetings for the past twelve years, but that the welcome and courtesies extended by Ada was the warmest he has experienced. He stated that one veteran Odd Fellow, who has been attending Grand Lodge meetings for the past twenty-five years, remarked that Ada is the first town where it met that the delegates did not have to pay taxi fare.

EIGHT INDIANS SLEEP IN JAIL AFTER PASHOFA

What might have been a perfectly peaceful "Pashofa," or Indian dance, which started early Wednesday night six miles east of town, turned out rather disastrously for eight Indians when officers arrived just in time, according to Sheriff Bob Duncan, to prevent a continued free-for-all fist battle.

All went well, officers said, until some of the warriors decided to change the jubilee from a celebration into a war hop. Then business picked up. As a result, Dave Walker, Coleman Perry, Wilson Wright, George Johnson, Watt Alexander, Dock Watters, Morris Stick and Jeff Alexander were under arrest Thursday.

Alexander was allowed to remain at his home last night under a promise to surrender today. The others were brought to jail. Charges of being drunk and fighting will be filed against them, according to the sheriff.

REPORT 30 LIVES AS LOST IN FIRE

Flames, Sweeping Northern Ontario, Leave Many Without Homes.

(By the Associated Press)

NORTH BAY, Ont., Oct. 5.—Forest fire refugees arriving here today from Haileybury reported that between 50 and 100 persons were drowned when they were crowded from a dock where they tried to board a rescue ship.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 5.—Forest fires which have been raging for the past 24 hours in two widely separated regions of Canada and northern Ontario and the Valley of the St. Maurice River in Quebec have cost a number of lives, destroyed six towns and according to a report reaching the Canadian capital this morning, now threaten other towns unless rain comes quickly.

Soon after midnight George W. Lee, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railroad, issued this statement:

"Over 5,000 people have been rendered homeless. The loss of lives is considerable and is mounting. The towns of Haileybury, with 3,500 people; North Cobalt, 1,000 people; Charlton, 500 people; and Healslip with 250 people are totally destroyed and the town of Englehart has been partially destroyed. Part of New Liskeard has been totally destroyed.

"The property loss will obviously run into the millions of dollars. The fire is still burning briskly, being fanned by a subsiding wind."

Another report states that scores of injured when fires swept the Catholic church. Among the refugees was Michael Burns, his wife and five children who were rescued. They declared that the crush was indescribable and many were pushed screaming into the river.

At least 50 and perhaps 100 were lost, declared Paul Whitlock, traveling representative of Swift and Co., who was badly burned about the arms and hands. He received the burns while working with a rescue crew.

QUAILS PAY TRIBUTE TO NEWS' KIND FORCE

Writers and philosophers have commented on the fact that birds and wild animals are not afraid of human beings who have the love of animals in their heart and who feel kindly towards all things, more particularly all living things. This has come to be accepted as an undisputed fact in handling wild animals.

This fact explains an incident which happened early Thursday morning, members of the News force insist. A covey of quails came in from the rural sections and played happily in front of the News building as the early streaks of dawn were appearing. There was a goodly number, possibly fifteen or twenty of the beautiful birds. Naturally the News force is willing to share some of the credit with Bud Ellison, Fred Ford, the National Guard units and others who frequent this part of North Broadway, but most of the credit is claimed by the bunch of men, women and boys who make it possible for Ada to have a metropolitan newspaper with a heart in it and a love for little beautiful things like Oklahoma quails.

The Boys' Clothes Question

It's an interesting subject to study and, as a rule, a most difficult problem to solve. We have studied boys' clothes—concluded that boys are "bound to be boys", and that they must have a certain amount of sturdiness, along with the style, in the make of their garments.

This is the reason why we think 2 pant suits are most practical—for the price of one you receive the service of two.

NEW ORLEANS TO BE LIVELY HOST

Old Southern City Ready to Entertain Legion Convention.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 4.—The city of New Orleans and American legionnaires resident there are vying with each other in planning the entertainment program for the fourth annual convention of the legion which will open there Oct. 16, if an outline of the schedule just received at Oklahoma legion headquarters may be taken as evidence, according to Leon H. Brown, department adjutant.

Moreover, according to Brown, the women of the auxiliary are making plans which threaten to outdo all others in brilliancy of conception and execution.

Brown said recently he expected 3,000 Oklahoma legionnaires and members of the auxiliary to go to New Orleans. Four special trains will be run from Oklahoma City, leaving on the night of Oct. 14 and running via Fort Worth and Houston, Tex. They will stop at Houston on the 15, and a side trip to Galveston is being planned.

The Oklahoma women's auxiliary headquarters will be at the Bienville hotel in New Orleans, which will also be national auxiliary headquarters. Oklahoma legion headquarters will be at the Monteleone hotel on Royal street, just off Canal street. Parking space for 30 pullman cars from Oklahoma has been reserved.

Three special entertainments for women of the auxiliary are on the program at New Orleans. 50 Pretty Girls.

Fifty of the prettiest girls of the corps have been picked by the various state organizations to act as pages at the convention. A banquet to the Butterfly Corps and Pages will be given at the New Orleans country club on the afternoon of the 16th.

One of the most brilliant affairs of the convention will be the women's "States Dinner," at which all delegates and members of the auxiliary from the various states will be grouped together by states at tables in a large dining room.

A tea to the distinguished guests of the auxiliary will be given at the Delgado Art museum in City park at New Orleans on the afternoon of the 15th.

The great event of the program for legionnaires will be the parade which will be held on the afternoon of the 18th. The parade at Kansas City last year took three and a half hours to pass a given point, and the promise is that the one this year will be even larger.

French Night Revels.

Special features of the program are Carnival Night, on the 17th, when three balls will be staged, and the dance entertainment of the "Lada" will be given; street dancing every night on Canal street; a hut show by Edna Thomas of A. E. F. fame; French Night, when New Orleans will revert to the olden days when it was ruled from Paris and become, instead of "Nouvelle Orleans," "Vieux Orleans."

Athletics will have a place on the program, including boxing, amateur and professional, wrestling, field and track meets, aquatic contests, tennis and golf tournaments, and a rifle meet. A naval show and sham battle will be staged by allied battleships lying in the river.

Trips to Spanish Fort and West End, the two "White Cities" of New Orleans, are planned and sight-seeing tours through the French quarters, the "Vieux Carre."

One Reunion Day.

Tuesday the 17th has been set aside as reunion day. Every division not holding a special reunion will be allotted a space on Canal street for get-together meetings. Those divisions having special reunions will repair to their meeting halls where their own business can be conducted, according to the program.

The convention will end at noon Friday, the 20th.

T. Semmes Walmesley, general chairman of the convention arrangement committees, says at the end of the program outline:

"We have outlined above only a few of the larger attractions of convention week. A thousand more parties, banquets, teas, shows and sight-seeing trips have been arranged.

"It is not possible to put on paper the treat that awaits anyone coming to old New Orleans for the convention. Old Father Orleans has stepped to the front and said: 'The Legion is coming—nothing must be left undone,' and nothing is being left undone."

Individual Legionnaires should immediately make known to their Adjutant their intention of going to New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS READY FOR 150,000 VET VISITORS

New Orleans sends word that they have been preparing for six months to entertain 150,000 Legion and Auxiliary visitors at their national convention October 16-20, and that everything is arranged, nothing left undone.

Daily features of entertainment include five sight seeing trips daily through the French quarter; special trips to Spanish Fort and West End, two fairy gardens where entertainment abounds; the Naval show on the Mississippi river, with allied battleships, cruisers, submarines and sea planes of every description awaiting inspection, and the big National Athletic Championship contests which continue daily, which approaches in importance the Olympic Games, and which is practically a Second Inter-allied meet. Aquatic contests, amateur and professional boxing, wrestling, tennis, golf, rifle matches, and other contests are included.

Special Features Ready

Monday's special entertainment features at New Orleans include the Butterfly Corps and Page Tea for the auxiliary Monday afternoon at the Country Club, the ladies' State Dinner Monday night, where 1,000 auxiliary visitors will be seated around their respective tables in one large auditorium.

Monday night is French night—the biggest attraction of the whole convention. No trace of New Orleans will be found. Street dances, brilliant lights and Parisian decorations, all will change the city into a second Paris.

October 17 Reunion Day

Tuesday, October 17, will be Reunion day. Every division not holding a special reunion will be given a space on Canal Street for "get together" meeting. Tuesday night is carnival night when three massive Carnival Balls, each typical of the world renowned New Orleans Carnival work in relieving destitution in the Urfa district of Asia Minor, where she has been in charge of the activities of the American Commission on Relief in the Near East for three years.

Miss R. Leone Rutledge has stuck to the "true sphere" of woman as far as her line of work is concerned. She is a baker chemist in the department of agriculture. She tests the various brands of flour by baking loaves of bread and then testing it for the cubic volume. Loaves of bread baked under the same conditions often vary greatly as to size.

Parade October 18

At 2:00 p. m. Wednesday October 18, the monster parade will start moving. Each State's aveterans march in the order of their membership standing at National Legion headquarters. This year Oklahoma will probably be ninth. At Kansas City the parade was a virtual circus with each state staging some special stunt or attraction; it took the parade more than three hours to pass a given point. The one at New Orleans promises to be bigger and better than at Kansas City.

At 8:30 p. m., Wednesday, Edna Thomas, well known to A. E. F.'ers will reproduce some of her overseas shows in the monster "hut shows."

Tea on October 19

On Thursday, October 19, at 4 p. m., there will be a tea to distinguished guests of the auxiliary, at the Delgado Art Museum at the City Park, and Thursday night a banquet to Legion delegates, alternates and distinguished guests given by the Legion Parish Affairs Committee of New Orleans.

Following the banquet the much advertised air raid and bombing party will take place, supported by an "Attack upon the City" by allied battle ships on the river. It is guaranteed to cause all over seas veterans to hunt a shell hole.

Each night, spaces will be reserved for street dancing, with scores of bands to furnish music for dancing at any time.

Athletic Contests Friday

On Friday October 20, finals in the athletic contest will take place. The convention will adjourn Friday morning or noon.

The next day Legionnaires may start on either of the three following trips, returning to New Orleans in order to use their return ticket before the thirty day limit expires; 3 and 1-2 day trip to Havana, Cuba, $75.00 to $88.00; 17 day cruise to Cuba, Canal Zone, and Costa Rica, $245.00; and a ten day rail trip through Mexico to Mexico City; $200.00.

Mangum Wins Prize

Paul Garrett Post No. 121 of Mangum, has been awarded a prize by the American Legion Weekly for instances of unselfish community service, for diverting funds collected for two years with which to build a club house, and using the money to equip a park and children's play ground and provide a play supervisor for the children of Greer County.

Float Bonds for Hall

At a meeting of committees from Wirt Grey post No. 116 of Drumright and the Drumright Rotary club, and Business Men's Association, it was decided to float bonds for the construction of an American Legion home to cost $10,000. During the summer Sam Foster, Commander of the post, made a talk to the business men on the value of soldier trade, along with farmer's trade, etc.

ROPER TO MEET MARTIN IN TITLE BOUT AT NEW ORLEANS CONVENTION

(By the Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—Veterans of the world war expect to see one of the heaviest ring battles of the year when Bob Martin and Captain Bob Roper meet for the heavyweight championship of the American Legion in New Orleans October 18.

Martin won the championship of the A. E. F. and Roper bested all comers among the forces which remained in this country during the world war. The thousands of Legion members assembled here for their national convention will be evenly divided in their support of the two fighters because the Legion includes both A. E. F. and the cantonment soldiers.

Martin and Roper have met three times, twice in "no decision" bouts and once when Roper won on points. Both are contenders for the world's title and it is probable that the winner at New Orleans will get a bout with Dempsey.

Never Knocked Out

Roper bears the unusual record or never having been knocked out, although in his 58 fights he has tackled some of the best men in his division. During 1921 he fought 17 battles, losing to Al Roberts, Martin, Burke, Dan O'Down and Pat McCarty, winning on points from Homer Smith, knocking out Jim Griffin, Carl Morris, Frank Moran, Bill Reed and Al Roberts and fighting a draw with Battling Levinsky. He also fought no-decision bouts with Martin, Wiggins and Semader.

General Pershing proclaimed Martin the "mightiest fighting man of forty million fighting men." Martin's record bears out this statement as he has delivered 83 knock-outs in 97 battles.

Martin has whipped all the prominent contenders for the World's title except Brennan and Roper. He lost to Brennan in New York in 1921, but his work has been steadily improving since that time and it is probable that he now Brannan's master. In 1921 Martin fought 9 bouts, losing one to Brennan and one to Keiser. He drew with Captain Roper, knocked out Martin Burke, Joe Cox, Gunboat Smith and Frank Moran.

The fight will be a 15 round decision bout, the main go will be proceeded by three fast preliminaries and a 10 round semi-final bout.

All Tulsa Citizens Weigh Once in Three Months, Scales Show

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Oct. 5.—Practically every Tulsa citizen weighed himself or herself once in the last three months, even including babies and grandparents, it is revealed by first glance at a set of figures compiled by representatives of penny-in-the-slot machine companies. The quarterly collection from these machines has just been completed. It was announced that more than 70,000 pennies were harvested in the collection. The population here by the 1920 census was 2,072.

Doctor Says Newer Form of Iron Will Increase Strength of Many Delicate People 100% in 10 Days

In Many Instances—Persons Have Suffered Untold Agony for Years Doctoring for Nervous Weakness, Stomach, Liver or Kidney Disease or Some Other Ailment When Their Real Trouble Was Lack of Iron in the Blood—How to Tell.

New York, N.Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. K. Sauer, a New England Physician who has studied both in this country and in great European Medical Institutions said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron, and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run-down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance.

In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your flagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of this newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous run-down people who were ailing all the time greatly increase and even double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time, simply by taking this newer form of iron, and this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like iron to put color in your cheeks and good sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood-builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old form of iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of this newer form of iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is usually almost immediately beneficial."

NOTE.—The above company is known to be thoroughly reliable. Over 4,000,000 packages of Nuxated Iron are sold annually, and it has been used and highly recommended by former U. S. Senators, Members of Congress, Judges of U. S. Courts and many physicians. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all and even greater benefits than you expect from Nuxated Iron, the manufacturers will promptly refund your money.

LODGE VISITORS THANK CITIZENS

Visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Grateful to Their Ada Hosts.

The I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly completed their work late Wednesday afternoon and adjourned. The final act was to install new officers. Past Grand Master Cope acted as installing officer for the Grand Lodge.

The News made every possible effort to secure a list of the appointive officers of both organizations but was unable to get it.

Both the Grand Lodge and Assembly adopted, amid applause, resolutions thanking the citizens of Ada for the courtesy received at their hands while here. A great many expressions of appreciation were heard from various delegates while here.

The Rebekahs did not turn in a copy of their resolution but the one adopted by the Grand Lodge follows: Resolution Whereas, the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge has been in session in the city of Ada for the past three days and, Whereas, it has been reported over the jurisdiction that Ada could not, entertain the Grand Lodge, therefore,

Be it resolved: by this Grand Lodge, that it is the unanimous and outspoken opinion of this Grand body now in session that at no other place in this state where we have ever held our meeting have we been entertained more royally or more enthusiastically, or where the citizenship have given more freely of their time and money to the comfort, entertainment or happiness of their visitors, than has the beautiful, enterprising, growing, thriving, educational little city of Ada.

Truly has our reception been royal, not that ushered in by pomp and glory, such as is given to royalty, but in that gentle, kind, and affectionate way, such as a mother gives a prodigal child. No wonder the stars and stripes wave so bravely and harmoniously over such a city. Sirs, the sun cannot help but shine brighter over such a wonderful people, for surely the fountain of generosity, courtesy and hospitality is located within the confines of the city of Ada, Oklahoma.

Yea, even the breezes of hospitality can be felt long before the city limits were reached, and continued to grow in strength and influence, until when we started up the street at the main entrance of the city the entire citizenship were running over each other to see who could do the most for their guests.

Therefore be it further resolved, that this Grand Lodge extend the rising vote of thanks to the Odd Fellows of Ada who have given their entire time for the success of this Grand Lodge, and to the beautiful and cultured ladies who have done so much to appease the appetites of these hungry delegates, and to make their stay pleasant while in the city, and to those who have so willingly carried us over the city in their cars, and to the boys who have sold us soda pop, hot tamales and pop corn on the streets, and to the Boy Scouts, and to all others who have been so solicitous for our welfare, even to the canaries as they warble their notes of welcome, and,

Be it further resolved, that it is the sense of this Grand body that had the hosts of our meeting been composed of the royalty of the land, our reception could not have been more cordial or our stay more pleasant, and, be it further resolved, that our fondest wish for this city and its citizenship is that it may continue to grow and expand until the golden rays of the setting sun shall meet the silver rays of the rising moon as it ushers in the evening tide of its existence, and when the dawn of another Grand Lodge can be seen in the distance, if it ever can, may they duplicate this demonstration of cordiality, after which we will vote to meet with them always.

May God be with and keep every man, woman, or child who has given of his time and talent to this work of well doing in this city. Your acts will be as bread cast upon the waters to be gathered many days hence.

Fraternally submitted. E. E. Norvell.

Indian Girl Chooses Jinx Allotment and Loses all Her Land

MUSKOGEE, Oct. 5.—Confronted some years ago with the necessity of choosing between three federal land allotments made under three names by the Dawes commission, Lettie McGilbray, 24-year old Indian girl, chose one—and chose wrongly.

Heirs of another Lettie McGilbray established their claim to the allotment recently and she found herself without tribal patrimony. Had she chosen an allotment made under the name of Letties Porter, Miss McGilbray would have become extremely wealthy, since oil production of the Porter land is large. All the production near the McGilbray land is small and very deep, reports say.

LEGION PLAY IS UP FOR TONIGHT

Cast Finishes Work Upon "Belle of Richmond"; Expect Big Crowd.

With a snappy dress rehearsal this morning preparations were completed for "The Belle of Richmond," a play to be given tonight at the McSwain theatre under the auspices of Norman Howard post of the American Legion.

Several weeks of training on the part of the cast is finished and Director Fred Schreiber has announced ready for the first curtain.

Committees of young ladies and of former service men are covering the city today with tickets. East Central college held last night its pep meeting originally scheduled for tonight and reports are that students will turn out in large numbers for the play.

Ada high school orchestra will furnish music and high school students are expected to give the play strong support.

"The Belle of Richmond" is considered by critics who saw the local cast in its last rehearsal, this morning to be one of the best home talent productions ever staged here. It is a story of Old Virginia shortly after the Spanish-American war and abounds in humorous situations. At several points, however, it is steeped in pathos.

Families Reunited. How two prominent families of Richmond fall out but later are brought together by a sudden turn in circumstances forms the basis of the plot, through which runs a series of clever romance.

Following are members of the cast: Colonel Lee, a southern gentleman and race horse fan, Bill Coffman; Judge Mason, bank president, Miles C. Grigsby; William Osmond, cashier of the Merchants bank, Fred Schreiber; Silas Smart, a fresh Yankee who has some strange hunches, Walter Wray; Gerald Gordon, Richmond's most powerful attorney, John Zimmerman; Green, a scheming bank examiner, James Keltner; Charley Lee, son of Colonel Lee, Dewey Neal; Mose, negro servant, Charley Shannon; the officer, Robert Shannon; Nellie Mason, the Belle of Richmond, Mrs. J. A. Patton; Rosalind Mason, her sister, Miss Nell Hodges; Winnie Mason, a Boston girl, Mrs. Fred Schreiber; Aunt Bettie, who is after the Colonel, Mrs. Ruth Carter.

BUCK JONES GETS YEAR IN VERDICT

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Attempt to Rape Notice of Appeal Filed.

Buck Jones, charged with rape, was found guilty by a jury in district court Wednesday afternoon. Not of the offense with which he was charged but of attempt to commit the act, and was sentenced to a year and a day in the state penitentiary. Notice of appeal has been filed.

The jury which tried him was composed of Sam Cox, E. P. Tingle, G. W. Grady, J. E. Logan, R. D. Milligan, H. J. Angle, J. G. Chadwick, C. H. Miller, H. B. Williams, W. B. Sanders, C. F. Childers, and W. F. Leach. Jones was charged with a criminal assault upon 9-year old Mildred Jones, his niece. The state further alleged that he transmitted gonorrhea to the child.

Shortly before noon Wednesday, attorneys finished their arguments and the case went to jury. After being closeted but a few minutes, jurors came out for lunch but resumed their deliberations at 12:30, reporting with a verdict two hours later.

By agreement of attorneys the T. J. Basinger murder case was changed to Hughes county court trial. Basinger was tried once here several months ago but there was a hung jury, 11 to 1 for conviction. The change of venue places this case on a criminal docket which comes up for hearing at Holdenville in December.

MASTERS HEARING IS OPENED TODAY

Allen Man Charged With Criminal Assault on 9-year-old Girl.

W. W. Masters, Allen, charged with first degree rape, went on trial Thursday morning in district court following several hours spent by attorneys Wednesday afternoon in drawing a jury.

Masters is charged with a criminal assault on Hester Whitehead, 9, at Allen on January 22, this year. Jurors sitting in the case are C. H. Turner, J. M. Tilley, I. E. Catron, C. M. Nelson, C. B. Oliver, T. N. Nickel, Claud Price, O. A. Holway, W. C. Mullinax, Floyd Purser, H. H. Southard, and D. T. Bourn. They were sworn in late yesterday and testimony was opened by the state early today.

Hester Whitehead took the stand as first witness for the prosecution. Throughout the direct and the cross examination she remained steadfast in her stories, relating the alleged attack with childish simplicity.

Mother Tells Story. Mrs. O. E. Whitehead, her mother, er, occupied the stand for more than an hour. She denied that she had accused her former husband, Whitehead, of shooting her small son last winter and asserted that she later learned that the shot was fired by a drunk man, shooting at a dog. Her testimony was guarded when the defense attempted to impeach her own reputation.

Dr. W. B. Berniger of Allen gave expert testimony this afternoon. He told of having made an examination of the Whitehead child several days after the assault was alleged to have been committed and to have made slides to ascertain if there were venereal disease germs on the girls person. Dr. I. L. Cummings and Claborn Whitehead were listed as other witnesses for the prosecution to be examined late this afternoon.

It was considered probable that the case will go to the jury by noon Friday.

Six Building Sites to be Given Away in Home Erectors Show

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Oct. 5.—Six building sites are to be given away the week of Oct. 30 to Nov. 4 in the course of the Modern Home Builders' Exposition which will be held here at that time, one each night, it has been announced.

Tulsa real estate men are donors of the lots which are to be given as prizes won in competition. It is pointed out that with the lots as security the winners can secure funds from building and loan associations to build homes at once.

The exposition is to be staged in at tent 100 by 250 feet in size. The tent will house a miniature model home fully equipped in every detail and furnished in the best style.

Local real estate men are pointing out in prompting the exposition many arguments for home owning. They say that statistics show that 99.5 percent of the divorces annually go to couples who do not own their own homes.

For the first time since 1914 a shipment of more than 1,000 game birds for stocking the game preserves of the west has come from Europe to the United States.

The EDITORS OWN COLUMN

By BYRON NORRELL

W. A. Lackey, who lives near Fitzhugh, reports the sale of $185 from chickens and eggs since the first of the year. Of this $86 came from hens sold in the spring when he culled his flock, but the rest is from this year's growth. He now has 117 hens and about 600 young chickens, including 111 capons. This is the first time he has tried capons but he has had very good success with them so far. He will ship them a little later. Mr. Lackey has not used an incubator this year, depending altogether on his hens. He breeds single comb Rhode Island Reds.

S. J. Armstrong, East 12th street, is eating ripe grapes, the second crop from his vines this season. He pruned the vine in June and the new growth put on another crop of grapes. N. T. McAlister has a vine which he says always puts on a second crop and now it is putting on a third one. The second crop is about grown but the third will probably not have time to mature before frost.

When it comes to a winter pasture a number of farmers in Pontotoc county have found barley hard to beat. It has passed the experimental stage here. It is too dry to sow now but it might be well to keep it in mind.

I picked up a farm paper published in Kansas a few days ago in which the farmers were strongly urged to get away from a one-crop system and diversify. Evidently the South is not the only section where the one-crop idea has held sway.

Capt. C. W. Ballard, who has just returned from the state fair, reports that Pontotoc county is making a splendid showing all along the line. This is not surprising for this county is improving its stuff all the time and one of these days will take first prize at the state fair.

The News congratulates C. W. Ballard, Lute Douge and J. F. Weldon on their success at the state fair. There was keen competition in the poultry exhibits, but this did not prevent the Pontotoc county men from getting away with just about all there was to be had. One thing that pleased Mr. Douge was the fact that most of the prizes that went to other breeders of Buff Orpingtons went to customers of his.

How to Make Persimmon Beer.
The proportions of ingredients for persimmon beer are as follows: Two bushels persimmons, 5 pounds honey locust, 1-4 cake bread yeast, 10 to 12 gallons of water. In the bottom of a barrel put a layer of clean wheat or oat straw, thick enough to come a few inches above the faucet hole. The head Mash and mix persimmons, locust and yeast cake, put in barrel and pour water over. Tie a cloth over the top and let stand from 6 to 10 days. Keep in a moderately warm temperature. After beer becomes ready to use, set in a cool place and it will keep good for several days.

In Texas a movement is under way for everybody to cut their cotton stalks at one time as soon as the picking season is over so that there will be nothing for the boll weevil to eat. This will either starve them to death or force them into hibernation before the regular time. The long period they will then be in winter quarters will cause the death of many more so that there will not be many to come out in the spring. Right here is an idea that Oklahoma farmers could follow to advantage, only the stalks should be turned under as soon as possible the weevils along with it.

W. F. Gordon, who lives northwest of Ada, states that his cotton is making from 500 to 700 pounds to the acre. This is quite a bit above the average for this year.

The peanut season opened Friday by the sale of about 100 bushels to Zorn & Abney. The nuts were raised by T. T. Strong, northwest of Ada. The News was informed that he made 16 bushels and 20 bales of hay to the acre. The nuts brought 80 cents per bushel and the hay is worth not less than 40. The crop was cut down by the dry weather. Ordinarily a Pontotoc county field will beat that considerably.

Green Tomato and Raisin Sweet Pickle.

Slice as many tomatoes as you want and soak them in strong brine three days and nights. Then soak in fresh water, changing the water twice daily until it no longer tastes salty. Simmer in alum water—one tablespoon of alum to two quarts of water—and then in fresh water until it just comes to a boil. To every three pounds of tomatoes add one and a half pounds sugar, one pint vinegar and the following spices tied in a cheese cloth or muslin bag: 1 teaspoon mace, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Cook until tender, about 1-2 or 3-4 of hour. Ten minutes before removing from the fire add 1 pound of seeded raisins for each gallon of tomatoes.

Green Tomato Pickle.
One-half peck green tomatoes (unpeeled), 1 pint sugar, 1 1-2 pints vinegar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon whole allspice, handful whole cloves, a little nutmeg and dry mustard, 2 or 3 small green peppers, 3 large onions. Boil one-half hour, or until tender.

The drouth is broken at last. The rain of Sunday was not a big one but was enough to encourage the hope that another one is on the way and due to arrive soon.

Oklahoma Crop Notes.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30, 1922.—Word comes from the A. & M. college at Stillwater that there is an increase of 114 percent in the freshman class in agriculture this year over last. Another interesting fact is that a large majority of the old students have returned. From all indications this should be the biggest and best year in the history of the school.

This office has had a number of requests in regard to picric acid for explosive purposes. The following information is for your convenience: The U. S. Department of Agriculture has for distribution some 12-500,000 pounds of salvaged picric acid for distribution to land owners for clearing purposes. It is a safe explosive, has no toxic effects and is stronger than the dynamite used for agricultural blasting.

For stump and rock blasting picric acid can be used in exactly the same way as dynamite. The distribution will be made through some state agency working in co-operation with the government. The bureau cannot receive individual orders or remittances for same. There is no co-operating agency in Oklahoma at the present time, however, where a sufficient number of parties are interested to contract for a car-load lot, arrangements can be made to procure same. For further information address this office.

The final decision by the judges of the agricultural exhibits at the state fair gave Canadian county First, Blaine county second and McCurtain county third. Blaine county took first in 1921. A large majority of the exhibits and live stock entries will leave for Muskogee immediately after the close of the fair to compete for honors at the Oklahoma Free State fair, to be held from October 2nd to 7th.

An increased interest is noticed in all parts of the state in the canning and preserving of the surplus garden and fruit products.

Corn gathering is in progress, however the yield is light and few places will have a surplus. Much will be shipped into the state this year.

Cotton opening fast. The bulk of the crop will be picked by November 1. Owing to the light yield, the supply of pickers is inadequate. Pastures are very dry in practically all sections and most farmers are selling their surplus stock. If wheat pasturage does not materialize the situation will be very bad as all feed crops have been cut short by the continued dry weather of the past growing season.

Our last report on cotton, until the 12th of December, will be released on the 3rd of October and the General crop report will be released on October 9th. Anyone who does not receive these reports regularly can have their name placed on our mailing lists by mailing your request to this office.

J. A. WHITEHURST, President, State Board of Agriculture.

It is always pleasant to meet old friends and among the delegates to the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah grand lodge and assembly I have found several. Among these is S. D. Williams, a prominent attorney of Wynnewood and one of the high officials of the Odd Fellows. He and I were in college together, twenty years ago and after finishing our school work naturally drifted to Oklahoma to grow up with the country. Williams is coming to the front, I am pleased to say.

Another friend in the newspaper field is Mrs. Lucy Eastman of Chattanooga, Oklahoma. She has conducted a newspaper business for a number of years and has always made a success of it. She always attends the state press meetings and has served as vice-president.

Sometime ago I spoke of the new variety of cotton put out by the A. & M. college, temporarily known as Oklahoma Triumph 44. Monday afternoon I saw a good demonstration of this cotton. From 10 acres grown by E. H. Simpson between Stonewall and Lula, two bales have been picked and at least one more will yet be gathered from it. Ten acres of another standard variety adjoining this yielded about 1,000 pounds from the first picking, and it is doubtful if the second will yield over 500. The two fields are on the same kind of soil and were cultivated exactly alike, hence the new variety appears to have it very much over the other. A bale of the Triumph was sold at Stonewall Saturday at 21.50, which was a cent

Enid Next Year
Enid was selected as the next meeting place of the orders. Most of the remaining time was occupied with routine matters, no legislation of importance being passed at this session.

The presentation of flowers to the various assembly officers marked the session of Tuesday afternoon and the Rebekah messengers, Sisters Kirby, Grigwire and Livesay carried flowers to the subordinate lodge with the compliments of the assembly. Brothers Cope, Black and Mason presented flowers with the greetings of the subordinate lodge.

The assembly then took up the memorial program and special eulogies were paid to the memories of the past presidents, Stacy and Hoke, past presidents who died during the past year, also to the memory of Sister Stephens, past warden of the assembly.

At the evening session the floor work was beautifully exemplified by the Sapulpa staff. An unusual feature of this was the presence of a mother, Mrs. Cora Meeker, and her four daughters in the staff.

Evening's Entertainment
At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening the semi-annual dinner given by the Past Grand Representatives to the Past Grand Lodge officers was served. The officers were re-elected as follows: Ben Lafayette, president; A. N. Leecraft, secretary; Harry Strough, treasurer. At the entertainment given to the delegates Past Grand Sire J. B. A. Robertson and other high officers of the order delivered addresses.

A Bear Hunt
The Muskogees had their inning at 10 o'clock and some 50 or 60 participated in the bear hunt. It was reported that the bear did his part most admirably, but just what this was has not been made public.

Today's Session
At the morning session of the Grand Lodge Past Grand Sire Robertson addressed the delegates. The business was said to have been largely routine.

Grand Sire Lucian J. Easton of St. Joseph, Mo., arrived at noon today and a feature of the afternoon session was expected to be an address by him.

TWO CONVICTED AT ARDMORE ON MURDER COUNTS

Record of Third District is Shattered Today in Double Action.

BOWMAN SENTENCED

Youth Held Upon Charge of Killing Old Man Gets Life Term.

ARDMORE, Sept. 28.—Every known record in the third court district of Oklahoma was shattered here yesterday when two juries trying two important murder cases, returned verdict of guilty in each and named the same penalty of imprisonment of the accused for life.

The two principals against whom the penalties were assessed were Willie Bowman, youth charged with killing an elderly man here two months ago, and Oscar Van Noy, former state conservation officer, and member of a prominent family here, who was charged with having driven the car which last October caused the fatal injury to Lola and Josephine Wilson and serious injury to Ruby Wilson and S. T. Wilson, father of the three girls.

Plead Insanity
Attorneys for Bowman worked on a plea of insanity, the youth having been gassed and wounded during the world war. Garvin county officials pleaded that if the jury accepted the accused he would "be taken care of" in his home county.

The state alleged Van Noy had been drinking. The accident caused a furor of public sentiment against Van Noy in Ardmore. Van Noy admitted he was under the influence of liquor when the accident occurred and gave that as his reason for not stopping, after the crash. He surrendered to Buck Garrett, sheriff, the next morning.

Wesley Johnson, charged jointly with Van Noy and said to have been in the car with him on the night of the tragedy, probably will not be tried at this term of court, Judge B. C. Logsdon announced this morning.

TURKEY ACCEPTS NOTE OF ALLIES

Terms of Settlement for Near East Issues are Approved Today.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—The Turkish Nationalists have accepted in principle the allied note regarding the near eastern settlement. It was announced here this morning.

A communique issued by General Harlinton, the British commander-in-chief, regarding the Mudania conference, which he is attending, says the conference is proceeding satisfactorily and that Ismet Pasha, the nationalist representative, has refused orders to the nationalist troops to avoid all contact with the British.

ACT OF ABDICATION IS REPORTED MISSING

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The original of the act of abdication of former King Constantine of Greece has mysteriously disappeared, according to a Reuter dispatch from Athens.

Former Premier Triantafyllakos, adds the dispatch, declared that the document was sent to the official printing office but that certain officials prevented its publication and he now is unaware of its whereabouts.

AGREEMENT CONCLUDED SAYS DISPATCH TODAY

LONDON, Oct. 4.—An agreement has been concluded between the allied generals and Ismet Pasha, the Turkish nationalist representative, who have been in consultation at Mudania over the question of an armistice, says an exchange telegraph message from Constantinople today. It is expected, it is added, that the proposal will be signed today.

SUPREME COURT SETS PRECEDENT UPON UTILITIES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3.—Setting a precedent for further cases the Supreme Court today decided that the state corporation commission has the right to order the extension of public utility services and that this right cannot be questioned where the demand is shown to be reasonable.

The decision was rendered in a case appealed from the commission by the Oklahoma Natural Gas Co which had been ordered by the commission to extend gas mains from 40th to 41st street, along Tennessee avenue and laterals on these streets of Oklahoma City.

The court held that the corporation in accepting its franchise to distribute natural gas assumed a public duty to provide adequate reasonable service and to expand with reasonable demands of the community and is compelled to do so when able.

One reason for damp cellars in the summer is that the moist air in contact with the cool inner surface of the walls and floor is chilled below its dew points and condensation results.

GOVERNOR TALKS TO ADA COLLEGE

Robertson Sees Glowing Future for Oklahoma Education Work.

(From Wednesday's Daily)
Gov. J. B. A. Robertson was a visitor at the teachers college this morning and at assembly hour delivered an informal address to the students. He was accompanied by Tom D. McKeown who was introduced by President Linscheid and made a few remarks to the student body.

In introducing the governor President Linscheid took occasion to call to mind the warm feeling Mr. Robertson has always entertained for the cause of education, which spirit took concrete form last summer when the governor allowed a deficiency certificate for $5,000 to enable East Central to care for the unexpected large attendance which overwhelmed the faculty and created a situation that would have meant sending home a large number had not the governor come to the aid of the institution.

Spend Less for Jails
The governor made no attempt at oratory, confining his remarks to educational problems and criticizing the attitude of some legislators who are always ready to try to economize in state expenditures by cutting down the appropriations for schools. He thought it far better to expend more for educational purposes and make it unnecessary to spend so much for jails and other institutions. His only regret was that he has not been able to do more for the boys and girls of Oklahoma.

He expressed himself as hopeful that the educational survey of the state now being conducted by competent authorities will result in great good, especially in pointing out ways and means of avoiding needless duplication and working out a better system for the guidance of legislators who honestly wish to do the best possible for the educational interests but who are not always able to decide just what is best, since often the educators themselves are not agreed.

In conclusion he advised the young people to take more interest in the political affairs of the country, making their influence felt in the cause of good government.

Eight Women Assume Carry Nation Role; Still is Destroyed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 4.—Eight women of the little town of Moberly, in Cumberland county, assumed the role of Carry Nation and proceeded to a wild cat still in the mountains and smashed it, says a dispatch today.

The women, armed with hatchets, guns and axes went into the mountains where they had learned was located the still, which had been supplying their men folk with liquor, and smashed everything in sight. The operators of the plant evidently had got wind of the proposed visit and removed the still proper and themselves to a place of safety.

WOMAN CHOSEN TO TAKE PLACE OF TOM WATSON

Mrs. W. H. Felton Selected By Governor Hardwick to Finish Term.

FIRST WOMAN THERE

New Precedent is Fixed in Choosing a New Georgia Senator.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 3.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, 87 years old, of Cartersville, Ga., was appointed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick today to fill the vacancy caused by the death of United States Senator Thomas E. Watson, until the people elect a successor in November. Mrs. Felton will be the first woman to become a senator.

At the same time Governor Hardwick announced his candidacy to succeed Senator Watson who died last week in Washington. The primary will be held October 17.

Whether Mrs. Felton will actually have an opportunity to qualify and serve as a member of the senate is doubtful for the successor will have been elected when the senate meets in November.

Congressman's Widow
Mrs. Felton is the widow of Dr. W. H. Felton of Cartersville, Ga., who served as a member of congress for several terms. She has long been active in Georgia politics. Many years before the women were granted the right to suffrage, Mrs. Felton managed her husband's campaigns and stamped the district in his behalf. She was a friend of the late Senator Watson and supported Governor Hardwick in his recent campaign for re-nomination.

The new senator has taken an active and influential part in political campaigns in Georgia for many years. On several occasions she addressed the state legislature and has served as a member of the board of visitors of the University of Georgia.

Mrs. Felton has a wide acquaintance with leaders in the national affairs and in 1921 conferred with President Harding while he was visiting in St. Augustine, Fla., prior to assuming the presidency.

Mrs. Felton announced her acceptance of the appointment.

Coach Smith hopes to build a fairly good eleven out of the material his school affords. Opening game will be played at Konawa next Friday afternoon when Ada high school seconds visit the Konawa gridiron.

BIG MOB STORMS JAIL TO EXTRACT NEGRO PRISONER

Montgomery, Ala., is Scene of Wild Excitement Over
Death of Warden.

PEACE NOW RESTORED

Terrell Taken to Another
Prison After Firemen
Disperse Crowd.

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 3.—Montgomery was quiet today following a night of excitement which resulted when a mob made repeated demonstrations in an effort to storm the county jail where Joe Terrell, negro, alleged slayer of George Wilson, county game warden, was imprisoned yesterday.

Before firemen and military forces could disperse the mob, five men were wounded.

Authorities announced that Terrell had been removed today "to another prison." The negro was shot in the hip by a posse which captured him near Union Springs.

Daylight revealed scars of the mob's activities. One side of the prison was peppered with various kinds of shot and bullets. The uniform of a fireman, who was directing the water onslaught, was pierced by a bullet fired by a member of the mob. Although great provocation at times was offered, military officers said they refused to allow guardsmen to return the fire which the mob mainly directed into the air.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 3.—One negro was killed, a score attacked on street cars, and one white man was shot in disorders here last night and early today following the arrest of Joe Terrell, negro, charged with the murder of George Wilson, a game warden who was shot Saturday night while searching for a negro who was alleged to have killed Albert Sanson, city policeman.

Judge Leon McCord, presiding judge of the circuit court, ordered the grand jury into special session here this morning to investigate the killing of Wilson. Terrell, according to the police, has confessed that he shot the game warden.

Three companies of national guardsmen were ordered to the jail last night, and later the fire department was called upon to disperse the crowd by using the fire hose. The jail was peppered with bullets but the soldiers did not return the fire of the mob.

John Brown, a negro railroad fireman, was removed from his home by a masked party at midnight and questioned about the escape of Jim Glenn, the negro wanted in connection with the killing of the policeman. Brown told the party he knew nothing of the escape and his story was substantiated by several white men. He was released. The mob dispersed shortly after midnight.

Dissenting Opinion on Bozarth Hearing Handed Down Tuesday

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3.—A dissenting opinion by Justice Miller declaring that Judge Mark L. Bozarth should not have been disqualified to sit in the bribery trial of Governor J. B. A. Robertson was handed down today. Justice Miller declared that the governor "did not want Judge Bozarth to sit in the trial and had pursued a course of action to compel him to disqualify himself."

An opinion written by Chief Justice Harrison, handed down as the court's decision last Tuesday, ordered Judge Bozarth to certify to his disqualification.

Democratic Ticket Sweeping Arkansas in Election Today

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 4.—Returns from approximately half of the counties in the state today indicated victory in yesterday's general election for the entire democratic state ticket by the usual wide margin, and defeat for the proposed amendments to the state constitution.

In a few instances, however, republican candidates for county offices were successful.

Try Lewis, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan, was elected municipal judge here by a large majority.

Witherspoon-Phelps Well to be Brought in Today is Belief

(From Wednesday's Daily) Expectations were that the Witherspoon-Phelps gas well in Section 17-4-6, three miles north of Ada, would be brought in today. Drilling was at 1,240 feet and a heavy head of gas blew mercury out of the tube early this morning. Pressure was reported at about 540 pounds, which is said to indicate a volume of 50,000,000 feet of gas.

This well is next to the John Bathrop location in Section 16-3-4. The Bathrop well is now at 557 feet with indications promising.

Siki Won't Meet Dempsey Soon; Status of African is in Doubt

By Norman E. Brown
The recent sensational victory of Battling Siki, the ebony hued warrior from the equatorial regions of Africa, over Georges Carpentier, idol of France, is having its aftermath. The usual conjectures are: Will he fight Dempsey next? What chance will he have against the Giant Killer?

Will America see him soon? What manner of man is he to take that terrible right of the jumping Frenchman—the right which rocked Dempsey and fogged his brain momentarily at least?

Answer to the first question: Mr. Siki probably will fight Dempsey some day, but not in the near future.

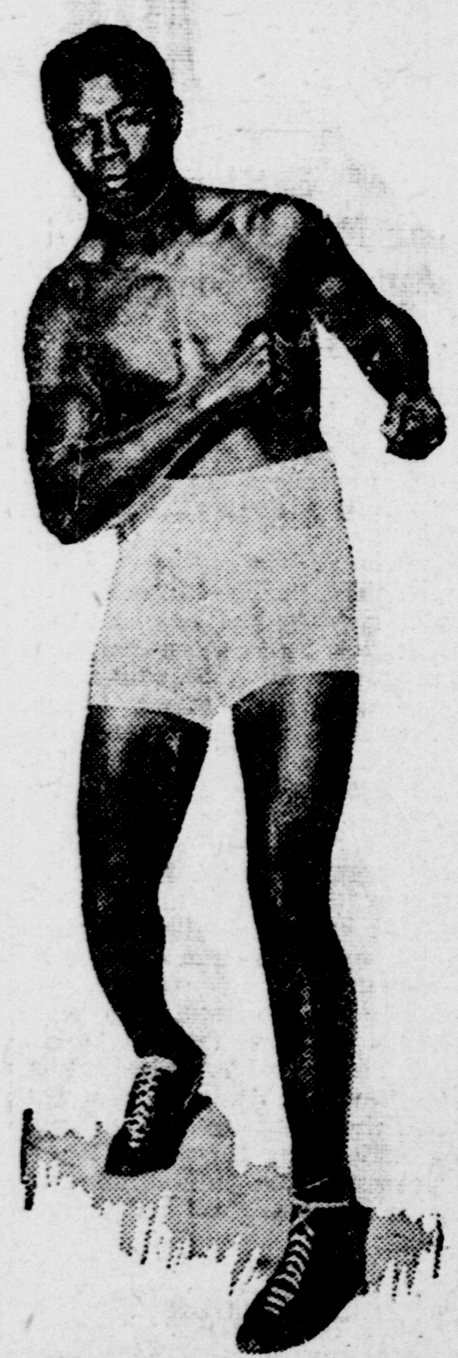

Carp Made Preliminary Trip
Recall the "battle of a century" between Carpentier and "Jacques the Dempsey." Carpentier made one trip to America a year before the match, just to help boost interest in the battle. He met a setup—Battling Levinsky—and then went home to let the plans take form. This procedure probably would be followed again with Siki.

Second: His chances against Dempsey are mostly a matter of opinion. There is this point which can be considered, however: Dempsey is more of Siki's type. Carpentier was the fast, clever, cunning fighter with one deadly punch. Siki is first of all a case-hardened statue of steel, built to take anything the ordinary fighter can hand him, and then by brute strength fell his opponent.

Dempsey has the speed and the cunning Carpentier has. But in addition Dempsey apparently has the iron physique that Siki has. Dempsey has a knock-out wallop in either hand which he can deliver from any angle. He has, also, a physique more like that of Siki's. He could fight Siki in his own style and carry with him the advantage of experience, greater speed, no doubt, and more nearly the same amount of endurance.

To Show in London
Late reports indicate that Siki's next bout will be with Joe Beckett or some other English heavy in London. If this be the case that bout will be months in the making while Siki basks in the limelight over there. Another triumph in London might mean immediate departure for America to collect the waiting coin there. Again, Siki might find more ready matches abroad which would assure him a fair return and easy victories. So the time of his arrival can't even be guessed at.

As to Siki himself.
His status hasn't been determined definitely by his victory over Carpentier. The fact that he took Carpentier's man-killing right and laughed in the Frenchman's face stamps him as a tough warrior—a rugged creature who can stand punishment. But Carpentier's condition that night is a matter of discussion. There are those who think the Frenchman, busy with his movie contracts and taking Siki as a joke, failed to train as religiously as he did for Dempsey and other worthy foes. There are others who have insisted right along that Dempsey took the fight out of Carpentier—killed his confidence and thereby his main asset.

Siki, all observers agree, fights more with the primitive instinct of his tribe than with a knowledge of boxing.

Experience May Spoil Him
If he can retain his jungle style he may continue to knock 'em stiff. But it is the history of boxing that many natural fighters have hurt their own careers by unconsciously absorbing the finer points of the game. It is doubtful if Jack Dempsey, say his with the terrific power and man-killing manner he did when he was slugging his way to the championship. He has learned to handle himself differently. He uses more footwork. He has learned to hit and draw away.

Siki, therefore, cannot be considered in the light of a possible contender for Dempsey's crown. He stands now as a freak of the ring—the latest sensation. The next few months will give us a better rating for him.

AMERICAN BINDS UP HER WOUNDS

Country's Recovery
From World War.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Pictures of America, recovering from the "rude buffeting and deep wounds" of 1917 to 1921, and "with a characteristic courage, binding up her bruises and slowly moving forward to new goals," was drawn today by Thomas Lamont, assistant of J. P. Morgan, in an address before 10,000 delegates at the convention of the American Bankers' Association.

"But we have not yet occasion for sound content," he cautioned the bankers. "We must not forget that, before the race is won, we still have some high hurdles to jump."

Discussing reparations and the interrelated debt Mr. Lamont raised two questions:

"Do our former allies really owe us all the debt; and are we doing our full share to solve the tragic questions that are weighing upon the world?"

"One thing is certain," he declared, "if someone, on April 4, 1917, had been able to give us our choice as to whether we should rather give up freely and for all time five billions of dollars or give up the lives of several hundred thousands of our sons, there would have been no hesitation as to our choice."

Mr. Lamont sought to console the farmers, who, he said, complain that "though this is a big season for crops, our net money gains will be small."

"I cannot attempt to argue the point of low prices," continued the financier. "But I never knew a country to go broke because of its abundant crops. So even though our farmers suffer disappointment, I think the low price hurdle is the easiest one to jump. Farmers had high prices in 1919 and 1920, but the aftermath was a severe one for them. In the long run, they, like all of us, will fare better on moderate price scales, with small fluctuations."

Governor Not Hurt by Rumor That He Dined With Negroes

As a result of a visit of Gov. Robertson and a number of prominent men to the negro school and fair at Taft recently, insinuations were spread broadcast that he and his party dined with a promiscuous gathering of the negroes, the idea probably being to use this as campaign material.

As stated by the governor the facts are that he was invited to visit the school, which is a state institution, and fair which the colored population held. He and a number of Muskogee men accepted the invitation but were served to themselves by the domestic science classes of the school when dinner time came.

The governor is not bothering about the effort to make political capital of the incident, which had nothing unusual about it, but his friends resent the distorting of the facts in the case.

WORK COMBINATION

Looters Use a Duplicate
Key to Get Inside;
Lock is Solved.

JAY, Okla., Sept. 30.—Improvement bonds valued at $25,000 and negotiable were stolen during the night when the safe in the county treasurer's office was looted. Between $50 and $60 in cash was also obtained.

The robbery was discovered this morning when the county treasurer opened his office for business. He found the combination of the safe had been worked. An inner door leading to the vault was pried open. The contents of the vault had been scattered about in confusion.

Entrance into the office is believed to have been made with a duplicate key. The bonds had been purchased by a former treasurer, out of the county's sinking fund as an investment. Twenty thousand dollars worth of the securities were issued by the city of Wilson and $15,000 by the city of Oilton. They are made payable to bearer.

NEW WAGE SCALE UPON WEST ROADS MAY BE FRAMED

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Negotiations for new wages and working agreements with the western railroads were begun today at a conference of a committee of the general manager's association and W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen, and L. E. Sheppard, president of the order of railroad conductors. W. M. Jeffers, general manager of the Union Pacific, headed the committee which represented practically all the lines west of the Mississippi river.

The negotiations were started last February but were discontinued in May pending meetings of the "Big Four" brotherhood and with the shopmen's strike, which began July 1, were dropped for the time being. Messrs. Lee and Sheppard have reached an agreement with principal roads of the east.

All parties to the conference said there would be no announcements of the progress of the negotiations before night.

HARRY POULIN IS FOUND INNOCENT

Haberdasher is Released on Charge of Being
Father of Babe.

SOUTH BEND, Sept. 30.—Harry Poulin, local haberdasher, charged by Mrs. Tiernan with being the father of her third child, was found not guilty in city court here today.

Judge Ducomb made it plain in his comment that he found the defendant "not guilty" in the strict sense of the word. He said that he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin. The fact, however, that Prof. Tiernan had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant.

The prosecutor and Prof. Tiernan announced after Judge Ducomb had rendered his opinion that the case would be appealed and carried to the supreme court of the United States if necessary.

"The decision was a great surprise to me," declared Prof. Tiernan. "It swept me off my feet."

Mrs. Tiernan fainted as she was leaving the court room and was taken to her home in a taxicab.

Okemah High School Stages Draw Battle With Wilston Team

OKEMAH, Sept. 30.—(Special)—Opening football game of the season was played here Friday afternoon between Okemah and Wilston, final score being 12 to 12. Coach Vernon's men had the edge of the battle during the entire game, working better on both offensive and defensive.

His husky players raced for two touchdowns on aerial work and line bucks up to fourth quarter. At the end of the third period the score was 12 to 6 for the homeboys. A Wilston back intercepted a forward pass in the last quarter and crossed the line to tie the score. McMahon, center; Garrison, right half, and J. Johnson, end, were easily the stars for Okemah.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—With a wave of his old slouch hat Uncle Joe Cannon, veteran legislator, started today in an auto to Danville, Ill., traveling over the old national pike his parents took 8 years ago when they emigrated to Illinois. Jumping into the car he told the chauffeur to "give her the gas."

Just before he left he received a wire from H. H. Franklin, the Syracuse, New York, manufacturer, offering to send down his best car and a driver, and desiring to know if he preferred an open or closed car. "This car is good enough for me," he declared.

Uncle Joe will drive into Danville Saturday, if no mishap prevents.

CITIZENS GREET LODGE VISITORS IN OPEN SESSION

Hospitality of City Thrown Open to Grand Lodge Delegates.

WILL FURNISH AUTOS

Fraternal Guests to Make Visits to Industrial Plants of Ada.

Friendship, love and truth—the true Odd Fellowship spirit, prevail, ed at the welcoming session of the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly in the college auditorium Monday night. Delegates from all parts of the state mingled with local Odd Fellows and citizens and joined hands in giving and receiving a hearty welcome.

Key to the city was given to R. U. Livesay, Grand Master, by Lowery Harrell, city attorney, who opened the address of welcome and extended an invitation to the visitors to visit industrial plants and business houses.

Following his address, Dr. A. Linscheid spoke at length on the sincere spirit in which the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and business men of the city extended their welcome to the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. He also touched on the relation of the I. O. O. F. organization to the fundamental growth of America, classing the fraternal organization among the highest in principle in the world.

Homes Are Opened

Hon. Tom D. McKeown closed the welcoming addresses. He repeated the utterances of earlier speakers of the evening that the city of Ada was unanimous in extending a hearty greeting to the visitors. He also touched on the history of Odd Fellowship and closed by inviting the visitors to be at home while here, inasmuch as the homes of the city were open to them.

In responding to these declarations of hearty appreciation of the visitors, Grand Master Livesay expressed for the Grand Lodge, himself and the Rebekahs a sincere pleasure in coming to Ada. He said he had attended many conventions and was pleased to know that the spirit in which Ada received the visitors was as true and sincere as any he had encountered.

Mrs. Bell Black, responding for the Rebekah assembly, declared that it was a great pleasure to the state delegates as well as herself to be guests of the city and the local lodges. She said she hoped the work here would be an inspiration in carrying on the work and promoting the spirit of brotherly love in Odd Fellowship.

McKeel Presides

Judge J. F. McKeel presided and made the announcements. He advised visitors that cars would be furnished free to transport them to any part of the city at any time. He also invited them to visit and inspect local industries while here, saying also that cars would be furnished to take them to any of the industrial plants.

College musical organizations were active. Two solos and several selections by the band added zest to the meeting, which served as "get acquainted" session for delegates. Immediately after the program, officers of the Assembly and Grand Lodge repaired to the college reception room where they received delegates to the convention. Refreshments of punch and cakes were served.

This was the first general session of the gathering here. Citizens were admitted and the college auditorium was packed.

Delegates from Enid started working as soon as they arrived here to land the convention next year. It is understood that several other places want the Grand Lodge and Assembly in 1923.

WORK IS STARTED UPON WHOLESALE HOUSE ON E. MAIN

Excavation work is well underway for a new wholesale house on East Main street and a large portion of the material has already been placed on the grounds. Concrete work will start within a few days and it is expected to progress with rapidity.

Hale-Halsell grocery company is having the house built. It will be 100 feet by 140 feet, one of the largest wholesale buildings in Ada. A side track of the Katy railroad will be built, entering the center of the building. It will cross east Main street about 100 feet west of the present tracks.

Cost of the building will be approximately $100,000. The east end will be about 30 feet from the west side track of the Katy and will extend to within 100 feet of the Boggs Motor company building. It will be only one story high.

It is estimated that about two months will be required to complete the building. A large territory in east central Oklahoma will be supplied by the new firm.

Chola women of South America are stated never to remove a petticoat, clean ones being added as required. Some of them are credited with as many as 40 of these garments.

GIANTS WIN FIRST OF WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Giants pennant winners of the National League, made an eighth inning rally by concentrating a savage attack on the Yankees' star pitcher, Joe Bush, today knocking him from the box and capturing the first game of the World's Series from the American League pennant winners.

More than thirty five thousands people saw what looked like a Yankee victory but the Giants came unexpectedly from behind with four consecutive smashing hits and a long sacrifice for three runs.

The final score was three to two. The game was a tightly played affair until the first of the sixth when the Yankee battery broke through the Giants' defense, scoring for the first run of the series. It looked like a shut-out in the seventh when Meusel scored the second Yankee run on Ward's sacrifice fly after two bad Giant fumbles.

In the last of the eighth, however, the Giants came back strong. Bancroft first led off with a single, going to second on Grohs' one base hit. Frisco came next with another single and the bases were filled with none out. The first Giant tally came when Bancroft and Groh scored on Meusel's single over second.

This blow drove Bush from the box and he was replaced by Hoyt. Young, the next batter, drove a long sacrifice to Witt scoring Frisco. The side then went out in order.

3000 OKLAHOMANS WILL MAKE NEW ORLEANS TRIP

More than 3000 Oklahomans will probably leave on four special trains Saturday morning October 14, for the grand celebration and reunion at the National Convention at New Orleans October 16-20. Everything is all set and final definite reservations should be made by post adjutants with local railways immediately.

All legionnaires are requested to use the special trains running over the routes selected by the Department Transportation Committee, to trains running to Ft. Worth and Houston, Texas, thence to New Orleans over the Gulf Coast Line. The routes selected to Ft. Worth are as follows: Rock Island from Medford through Chickasha; Santa Fe from Newkirk through Ardmore; Frisco from Afton through Sapulpa and Madill; Katy from Muskogee through McAlester, with connecting train from Cushing to Muskogee.

The Oklahoma delegation is promised a royal time Sunday, October 15, when they will be guests of the City of Houston, which will arrange for a side trip to Galveston. The special trains stop over there during the day.

TEXAS VETERANS UNITE TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

Scores of Texas posts will send delegations made up largely of the 30th and 90th division veterans to help the city of Houston entertain the Oklahoma delegation Sunday, October 15th. Many Oklahoma legionnaires will visit the veterans bureau hospital at Houston over Sunday, where many Oklahoma patients are hospitalized.

Among Honor States.

Oklahoma is one of only 12 states which had gone "over the top" in membership standings on September 14, with 110 per cent of their 1921 strength, ranking ninth among the departments. Their standing two days later, September 16, at National headquarters will determine their position in the parade at New Orleans.

Allied Federation Meets.

The inter-allied veterans federation will hold their annual convention October 12-13, in New Orleans. The federation is composed of ex-service men of all principal allied nations. The convention was held last year at London.

Wear Indian Headgear.

Oklahomans visiting New Orleans will wear the popular Indian headgear which made such a decided hit at Kansas City last year. This year they are made of cloth, being hand made by the auxiliary at Oklahoma City.

Big Hats Remind.

Members of the Frank H. Collins Post No. 111 of Edmond, each purchased a large hat at the time he "signed up" to go to New Orleans. These are to be worn until convention time and act as a constant reminder to other legionnaires that they should get aboard the special train October 14.

Post Sends Workers.

Triplet Post No. 232 of Fairfax, reports that tab was kept on activities of all members during the summer, 12 of the most active being selected by a committee, and six of those twelve voted a round trip ticket to New Orleans by the post. The scheme netted the post $500 during the summer and made willing workers out of the entire post membership.

They Like to Read.

The Department Executive Committee at its meeting September 24 urged that posts see that the "home town papers" and good magazines be sent the soldiers' tubercular sanatorium at Sulphur. Good books are also needed in the library. The department executive committee spent two hours at the university hospital in Oklahoma City, visiting the equipment and visiting with their "buddies" who are patrons.

Stay at Monteleone.

Oklahoma department headquarters will be opened at New Orleans at the Monteleone Hotel. The Oklahoma delegation will march through from their special trains arriving at New Orleans on the morning of October 16. It is safe to predict that New Orleans will know when Oklahoma "hits town."

Invite Wives There.

Wives of congressional medal of honor men have been invited to accompany their husbands to the American legion national convention in New Orleans, October 16-20. Their expenses will be paid by the legion convention committee.

Meeting a Success.

Bartlesville royally entertained the legion during the most successful convention in its history September 11-12. Dances, parade, base ball, athletics, banquets, automobile rides, bands, fire works, boxing, to all of which the legion were admitted free, kept the visitors always busy. Bartlesville set a record for big conventions. Lawton gets the convention next year.

Here Are New Officers.

New state American legion officials elected at Bartlesville are as follows: Department commander, Dudley C. Monk, Okmulgee; vice commander, Lee Gilstrap, Chandler; Dr. A. I. Aisenstadt, Picher; and Clyde P. Noe, Pawhuska; national committee man, Wm. S. Key, Wewoka; department adjutant, Leon H. Brown, Blackwell; finance officer, Harry E. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

CITY LANDS 1923 REUNION OF U.C.V. WITH LANDSLIDE

Gray Veterans in Meeting at Shawnee Favor Ada Unanimously.

REMEMBER OLD TIMES

Pontotoc County Has Warm Spot in Hearts of 200 South Defenders.

(From Thursday's Daily)

Ada will entertain the 1923 state reunion of United Confederate Veterans and affiliated organizations.

Local delegates now in attendance at the Shawnee convention, which is scheduled to close today, won this honor by a unanimous vote when the selection of a meeting place for next year was balloted upon at a business session late Wednesday.

Strong sentiment in favor of Ada was said to have been demonstrated by the veterans throughout the meeting. This is believed to have resulted from hospitable treatment extended to the state U. C. V. during the previous state conventions held here.

Tom D. McKeown of this city, Luther Harrison of Holdenville, and Prince Froeling, former attorney general of Shawnee, addressed the veterans Wednesday afternoon, and an old fashioned "Virginia Reel" was stage Wednesday night. Concluding sessions of the convention are being held today.

Many Ada folks there

Ada is reported to have had one of the biggest delegations at the Shawnee meeting. About 30 veterans, their wives, sons and daughters went. Railway fare of veterans were paid by local subscription.

Several members of the Ada delegation returned to the city Wednesday night and others were arriving today. J. A. McKellar, one of the sons, came in last night and reported a successful convention at Shawnee with approximately 200 veterans present. Mr. McKellar was free to survivors of the Confederacy and royal entertainment furnished throughout the meeting.

GUS AUSTELL IS KILLED IN RUNAWAY

Gus Austell, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Austell of Center, Okla., was killed instantly late Saturday afternoon when the team he was driving became frightened and ran away, throwing him from the wagon loaded with corn. Funeral services were held at ten o'clock Monday morning and burial took place in Center Cemetery.

Young Austell, with a helper, Everett Ricketts, had been gathering corn and they were returning home, each with a wagon load. Ricketts told parents of the dead boy that as they were leaving the field about three miles northwest of Center he looked back to see if Austell was coming. He discovered the team running down the road and saw Austell's body where it had fallen.

N. T. Tarwater, who was passing on the road at the time, assisted Ricketts in taking the boy's body to Center. Austell was a cousin of Lady Mae Austell, who was drowned near Center several months ago. He is well known at Center and was a student in Center high school.

NEW RAIL TERMS SIGNED TUESDAY

49 Roads and Workmen in Country Approve Old Wages and Rules.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—A new agreement maintaining the old rates of pay and rules and working conditions was signed today by representatives of approximately 49 railroads and subdivisions and the Brotherhoods of railroad trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors.

The agreement which will be in effect until October 21, 1923, maintaining old wage levels and rules including time and one half for overtime after eight hours, was considered by the employees' organization as favorable to them. Grievance committees of the trainmen's organization on 19 roads entering Chicago had approved the agreement before W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen and L. E. Sheppard, president of the conductors, affixed their names today.

The Western managers headed by W. M. Jeffers, general manager of the Union Pacific railroad, were said to have been mindful of the attitude of the train service brotherhoods in living up strictly to their agreements with roads and to have made some concessions in the progress of the negotiations which began yesterday.

Under the agreement, all disputes as to rules and working conditions now pending before the labor board will be withdrawn by both sides.

The agreement also contains a clause providing for termination of the agreement upon 30 days notice being given. Local grievance committees of individual roads also were authorized to negotiate with the individual roads on local rules.

New Crop Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls

Don't feed raw cotton seed. Let us exchange Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls with you for them. On basis of the present market, we offer you 4,000 pounds of Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls—that is 3,500 pounds of Hulls and 500 pounds of Meal for a ton of cotton seed.

A ton of cotton seed contains 150 pounds of dirt, trash, burs and foreign matter, totally unfit for feeding; and about 250 pounds of oil which is undesirable for feeding; leaving only about 1,600 pounds of hulls and kernels (in a raw state), and this badly proportioned for good results.

Cotton Seed Hulls have more nutritive value than common hay, are more convenient to handle, are free from dust or foreign matter, and are healthful and appetizing.

Cotton Seed meal is the richest and most concentrated feed known. It has about six times the nutritive value (protein content) of corn, and more than four times that of wheat bran. Mixed in proper proportions, it forms a balanced ration and gives better results than any other feed known.

If any of our farmer friends have never tried this mixture, we invite them to catch the seed out of a bale of cotton and exchange it with us on the above basis; that is, two pounds of Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls in the above proportion, for one pound of cotton seed, and if after giving it a fair trial you decide it is not a better feed, pound for pound, than cotton seed, we will pay you for the cotton seed delivered to us and charge you nothing for the Meal and Hulls delivered to you. You are to be the sole judge, and there will be no back talk from us.

FRATERNALISM

"Am I my brother's keeper?" was the defiant reply of Cain when the Lord brought him to judgment for the murder of Abel. It was made very plain to the generations which followed that every man is indeed his brother's keeper, although this is a lesson that has never been fully learned even to this day.

In the early dawn of creation man found it impossible to live to himself. He was surrounded by too many dangers to be able to cope with them successfully when depending upon his individual efforts. It was only when combined with others that he could hope to survive. This was the first lesson in fraternalism. Not only did man find strength in unity, but in time he found that banded together as brothers mankind could keep bright the ties of friendship and dwell in peace through cultivating a forbearing spirit. All the great philosophers and religious teachers of the ages stressed the beauties of the fraternal spirit, the blessings of peace and unity and the pursuit of truth. This led up to the deeper realization of man's duty to his fellows, especially those in distress. The Good Samaritan is a fine example of a true fraternalist. It was upon this foundation that the great fraternal orders of today have been built.

The assumption of the duty as his brother's keeper was a great one for man. It meant sacrifice on his part and a willingness to forego some of his personal comforts and ease in times of prosperity for the sake of rendering aid to his brother in distress. The night might be dark and enemies might beset his path, but he must leave the comfort and safety of his own fireside and go to the aid of one who was in need, should the occasion demand. To the extent that he was willing to do this was he to become a true fraternalist.

Modern fraternal societies do not attempt to regulate a man's religious convictions. They recognize an All Wise Creator, the Father of all, and seek to do His will by extending the helping hand to His suffering children. They are not designed as a substitute for the church, but teachings and practices are such that their work is a great aid to the church.

As practiced today fraternalists rejoice together in time of sunshine, cling together in time of storm, care for the sick, bury the dead, befriend the helpless, provide homes for the homeless and teach patriotism and respect for the laws of the land. With such tenets it is not surprising that with the advance of civilization fraternal organizations have grown in strength and numbers. There is a great work for them to do and they are striving to perform the trust imposed upon them.

It goes without saying that Ada feels highly honored by having the representatives of two great orders as her guests. The I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges well merit the respect in which they are held by the world and we hope to see the organizations prosper more and more as the days go by. We bid you welcome.

In Missouri as in Oklahoma the rooster has been the Democratic emblem on the election tickets for a good many years. Now the party in that state has decided to substitute the goddess of liberty. Perhaps that is all right but in Oklahoma we have stamped under the rooster so long that most voters would feel lost if he picked up a ticket with some other emblem on it. While the goddess of liberty is a fitting emblem of the principles of the party, the crowing rooster is too familiar a friend to be put aside without ceremony.

Under the Underwood tariff the duty on aluminum ware was 20 percent. Under the new law just signed by the president it is 71 percent. Secretary Mellon of the treasury in private life controls most of the aluminum manufacturing plants of the country. The public would like to know what influences were brought to bear to secure this bonus for the secretary, for bonus, pure and simple, is what a duty to shut out foreign competition amounts to.

Before being taken in by the propaganda of the anti-Walton Democratic Club of Oklahoma City, voters would do well to examine the list of leaders and see how many have ever been recognized as dyed-in-the-wool Democrats. Some of their records along other lines might be inquired into with profit to the investigators.

The Sapulpa American suggests that honesty should be taught. The suggestion may be all right in principle, in fact we could name a whole gang off hand who needs such a course, but it would be a hard matter to convince one of them that he needs it. It is always the other fellow of course.

COTTON PRICES PROVE ELUSIVE

Market prices sometimes are difficult to understand. They should fluctuate one way and they go the other. Apparent facts, figures and logic are set at naught.

Take cotton prices just now as an instance. There is every reason why cotton should go higher, but it persistently refuses to climb. It goes up a few points, and then falls back again; goes lower, and then climbs to its old level.

"All we have seen lately is a backing and filling affair," says J. S. Oliver & Co. (New York) in its weekly review of the cotton situation. "There is every legitimate reason for the market going up and just a few excuses for it not doing so. But facts and theories, just the same as reasons and excuses, are entirely separate things. You can't talk cotton to a higher level any more than you can argue religion with a hungry man. Cotton must go higher, but when? That is the question."

What kept the cotton market from going higher last month may have been crop uncertainty or it may have been something else, but the present weight on quotations is said to be the rumor of impending war in the Near East involving Great Britain. Should England go to war with the Turks, and Russia mix in on the side of the Turks, Japan might have something to say on behalf of the British.

Anything like a second world war would affect the demand for cotton and naturally react on the prices of the supply, especially since England is one of the largest consumers of cotton. On the other hand, Continental Europe is making new headway in its textile industry and trade interests are buying steadily. It is claimed, too, that the South has hedged so much of its cotton that it is committed to the short side.

The argument appears to be largely in favor of higher prices for cotton, but even so they may suddenly go down instead of up, for who can predict with certainty the course of the weather or the markets?—Fort Worth Record.

WOULD BANISH THE DONKEY

And now Democrats are expressing displeasure over the donkey being used so often as a party emblem. They may have some reason to be peeved at the practice which has prevailed for the past half century, for it was a Republican cartoonist, Thomas Nast, who first used the donkey to represent the Democratic party and the elephant as the emblem for his own bunch. Others took it up until in time even Democrats accepted the donk and he has appeared about as often in Democratic quarters as in the publications of the enemy. However, it is sometimes hard to change customs and it will perhaps take quite a bit of effort to induce cartoonists to represent the party in some manner more dignified.

However, the Democratic party has always been the party of the common people and the meek and patient burro has from the earliest days of history been the helper and beast of burden for the poor. It was only a plutocrat who could afford an elephant and when the elephant appeared it was time for the common bunch to get out of the way of the big bosses or take chances on being crushed under feet of the elephant. Therefore, perhaps the two designations are after all not so inappropriate.

The world is now in a state of unrest and turmoil. This is not the first time such a state has prevailed and if we are to judge by past history it will eventually develop some new leaders who will guide the population of the earth out of the bad situation towards higher ideals. Wilson was a great leader, but he was ahead of his time. The world is not yet prepared to depart from its old habits of thought and customs. A period of preparation is necessary and we are in that period now.

The primaries have left a flock of lame ducks in the Republican pond and the November election will increase it very materially. This means more work and worry for the president. How to care for lame ducks is an old problem and it will be interesting to note how Harding will handle it. He has taken care of several already but they are getting too thick for him now.

Evidently Mustapha Kemal decided that a grand bluff might not work after all, for press dispatches say he has withdrawn his forces from the neutral zone, thus removing the danger of an immediate clash with the British. A bluff is all right when it works but it is something else when it is called and it becomes a matter of put up or shut up.

The government cotton estimate is still lower, the prospective yield now being placed at just a shade above 10,000,000 bales. At that rate the entire crop will be cleaned up before another is made and a new start will be in order next year.

It is being urged by wet propagandists that insanity is increasing as a result of the bad quality of moonshine being consumed. Well, burns will increase, too, if people should persist in sticking their hands in the fire.

The memoirs of the former kaiser now running serially in a number of city papers remind one of the proud observation of the raw army recruit that every body was out of step but himself.

Oklahoma has no state tax this year. That is one item that John Fields could not improve on if he were governor.

A good winner does not crow about his achievements nor does a good loser whine about his hard luck. Each takes what comes and makes no fuss about it.

We have heard it said that no one loves a fat man. How about the tailor? A fat man should be a joy to him when he orders a new suit.

EDITOR'S OWN COLUMN

above much of what was sold that day.

Here are some suggestions from the Farm and Ranch on the weevil problem. It is a safe bet that we shall have some weevils with us next year, but the experience of Texas farmers proves that it is possible to get away with a large percentage by going after the old crop early and cleaning up his food supply and winter quarters. Here are the suggestions made by the Farm and Ranch:

1. Weevil infestation in spring starts from the few weevil that pass the winter.
2. The weevils developed late in the fall are the ones most likely to survive the winter.
3. Many weevils will survive the winter in fields where cotton stalks, together with grass weeds and other refuse material offering shelter, are allowed to remain.
4. Great numbers successfully pass the winter in Spanish moss and in dead grass along fences, ditches and other waste places.
5. The weevil eats only cotton.
6. The weevil breeds only in cotton squares and bolls.
7. The weevil can live for several months without food while hibernating and inactive.
8. It does not become inactive until the first killing frosts.
9. Previous to the first killing frosts it can live for only about six days without food.
10. Killing cotton growth early prevents the weevils breeding and permits only the older ones to enter hibernation.
11. Very few of these older weevils have sufficient vitality to pass the winter successfully.
12. Killing cotton growth early removes the food of the weevil. If the growth of cotton is killed entirely as early as two weeks before frosts practically all weevils will starve before going in winter quarters.
13. Destroy cotton growth early; if possible, by October 1st.
14. Merely chopping or clipping the stalks off will not answer; the stumps will throw out new growth ideal for weevil food.
15. Kill the plant entirely and prevent new growth by setting a plow shallow and turning out the plants or by some equally effective means.
16. Do not burn crop refuse on the fields; Texas farms need this returned to the soil as manure. Merely killing the plants as suggested in No. 15 will in most cases secure the benefits aimed at.
17. Burn the trash along fences, ditches and other such waste places in midwinter and thus destroy the individuals hibernating there. (See Nos. 4 and 16.)
18. A farmer cannot prevent weevils coming to his cotton in the spring that another person has wintered.
19. Big things are accomplished only by co-operation.
20. Organize a whole community for the fight.

State Hospitals Almost Filled, Lewis Says in Statement.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—With 150 patients now in the three state tubercular sanatoria and the capacity total of those three institutions limited to 250, Dr. A. R. Lewis, state health commissioner, expects that there will be more applicants for admission by Christmas than can be taken care of, he said recently. Commissioner Lewis said that each fall many new cases are sent to the sanatoria from counties all over the state, and that the peak of the number of applications and admissions is not usually reached until about mid-winter. But he added that the applications this year are more numerous than they have ever been in his experience.

The commissioner said that preparations are under way to house at least one hundred patients in tent cottages at the Talihina sanatorium, in order to take care of the expected large number of patients. This will increase the capacity of the state institutions to a total of 350, he pointed out. New tents are being purchased and placed in a grove of large pine trees, he said. The tents will be fitted with windows, floors, and the latest hospital appliances, with all arrangements made to secure the maximum amount of fresh air.

100 at Talihina.
He said that the present capacity of the Talihina institution is 100 of the Clinton hospital, 100, and of the Boley sanatorium for negroes, 50. There are 25 patients, fourteen of whom are bed-ridden, now at Boley, with eight more applications on file; there are 55 patients at Talihina and 70 at Clinton, he said.

Commissioner Lewis indicated he would ask the next legislature for increased appropriations for the operation of all three institutions, since present funds are not enough to take care of more than the capacity number of patients. He said that the appropriation at Talihina is $15,000 a year, with a revolving fund which is repaid by counties; the appropriation at Clinton, he said, is $60,000 with no revolving fund; the fund at Boley is $20,000 with no revolving fund.

African Fighter to Battle in New York On Thanksgiving Day

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Siki, the Senegalese negro who sprang into world wide prominence by knocking out Georges Carpentier in Paris last Sunday, will fight in this city on or about Thanksgiving day, November 30. ## COTTON RECEIPTS AT ADA ABOVE 2,000 BALES

Yard receipts at Ada for the season totaled 1,978 bales Wednesday afternoon. Besides this considerable has been shipped without going through the county weigher's hands, putting the total well above 2,000 bales. Mr. Ward, the weigher, states that receipts are still about where they were, showing little sign of falling off, yet. About 100 bales were brought to him Wednesday. He says that he has already weighed just about as much as he did all last season, not counting the 1920 cotton which was not sold until last year.

Those who raise mulberry trees in Italy for the silk industry expect this year's crop of leaves to exceed that of 1920, when a record of 225 tons was attained.

No Stars in "America's Answer"
The entire cast made up of the greatest fighters in the world. There is no particular adorned and medaled starring "America's Answer," it is the one picture that took a million people to make and all stars. The picture every American played in, from the President down to the little school child that bought a thrift and war saving stamps, the one picture YOU played a part in. America's Answer to the challenge of the ambitious German monarchs of the greatest answer of united force, patriotism and money ever known from the time of Solomon to the present day.

Just pause a minute and think, how very much we accomplished in the few short months our hand was in the great struggle for justice. America, trained, clothed and armed over a million men and sent them across the pond that was undetermined by German submarines. We supplied England, France and Belgium with hundreds of millions of supplies and materials, loaned them billions of dollars, went into dispirited France that was utterly congested for the caring of the never ending stream of men that was pouring in from America, and handling the supplies to the front as well as built base hospitals for our and their sick and wounded men, built railroads to the front, operated saw mills, manufactured camouflages and performed countless feats that were necessary for the Allies' victory.

While over here, American people were pouring billions upon billions of dollars into the treasury, by buying Liberty Bonds, Thrift Stamps and etc. Thousands of women that had never worked before, took the duties of our departed men, in steel and munition plants, acting as police women and everything from the easiest to the hardest and dirtiest manual labor. As a historian put it: "The Kaiser was defeated on American soil." And while over there our million and one-half straight shooting, hard hitting, unafraid doughboys were smashing the Hindenburg line and ploughing through to the victory that is ours.

The picture is to be run two days, Monday and Tuesday at the American theatre an admission of 15 and 35 cents to be charged and in paying your admission to see this wonderful picture, you are seeing a complete vivid portrayal of the world war and the hand America played in it. A chance which may never come again for you to see; everything from the most mental sacrifice on the home sector to the supreme sacrifice on the front of citizen to country. You will see many battle scenes, that, until lately have been closely guarded in the archives of the War Department as secret military information.

The Legion boys have also arranged for some special music, and on Monday afternoon they are having a special matinee for school children at reduced prices.

Let's all go enjoy a wonderful picture and aid a very good cause.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—After a few opening sales at 10 and 15c lower, the hog market had a further relapse Tuesday, closing 25c off. All markets went off badly, although receipts were far from excessive. The day's crop carried the bottom of the bulk under $9 and compared to a week ago prices are fully 20c lower.

M'GRAW GREATEST KING OF DIAMOND

"Napoleon of Baseball" is Now Well Entrenched in Superiority.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—By adding another pennant to the string that has fluttered from the flag pole at the Polo Grounds, John Joseph McGraw becomes more securely ensconced in his title of "Napoleon of Baseball."

Short, stocky, dapper, ruddy faced and gray headed McGraw looks more like a successful broker than a professional athlete. He appears as what the clothing adds classify as "smart," and if ever some twist shears him of success and reason he can get a job posing for an oil painting of a cigarette smoker or the latest in collars.

His career is remarkable but not surprising. It was a sane, steady march to the heights of his profession, intercepted now and then by some flight of temperament or of temper, but it has all been in one direction. He is in the logical place for such a logical man to occupy. McGraw was born in 1875 and so is just about turning the 50 mark. He began playing baseball as most American boys do as soon as he could toddle after one. His professional debut was made when he discarded short trousers, but whether he did one of those two things to effect the other is a question which his biographers must debate.

In Game 32 Years
The present manager of the Champion Giants has been in the game professionally for 32 years, starting with the Oleon team of the New York State league in 1890 when his reputation as a consistent hitter and reliable fielder spread from his native heath of Truxton, N. Y. Throughout his playing days he was one of the marvels of the diamond but his gray matter has made him a fixture.

Only one year did McGraw remain in Oleon signing a sheet for $60 a month. Next he went to Cedar Rapids where his stipend was more remunerative and his work more brilliant. His shortstopping was so remarkable that a big league scout came to look him over, saw him and was captivated. The youthful "Mugsy" went to Baltimore, then the tail-ender in a 12-club circuit. It was in August, 1891, that McGraw broke into fast company, little more than a year after his entry in the professional ranks. His first season he warmed the bench, but in 1892 Ned Hanlon, the Orioles' new manager, tried out John Joseph at second base and then shifted him to third where he gained a reputation. Third base was his position.

Recognized as Peer.
McGraw has always been recognized as the peer of any who preceded or followed him at the "hot corner," his particular forte being the fielding of bunts. He was a year in and year out .350 hitter and fast on the paths. His individual playing was one of the factors in the success of the old Orioles. With Wilbert Robinson, formerly of the Giants and now manager of the Brooklyn team, McGraw was sold to the St. Louis Club in 1900 for $18,000. Both players were ill-pleased and when the American League reared its head in 1900 the Giants' present mentor aligned himself with Ban B. Johnson.

He went back to Baltimore and organized a team that was one of the most popular in the history of the game. But in 1902 McGraw and Johnson came to the parting of the ways and in mid-season the Baltimore team was so disorganized that "Mugsy" took off his spiked shoes and announced that they were on the shelf for ever.

At that time the late Andrew Freedman was sorrowed by the spectacle of the slow-going Giants, the team he owned. McGraw was recommended to him and was hired, taking the helm in July and remaining in charge since.

The game has grown big—has had virtually all of its growth and growing pains—in McGraw's professional time. When he came to New York the old Polo Grounds seated 12,000, now it is 38,000 and a third tier to the grandstand is to be added next year. McGraw's life is insured by the club for $100,000 and he owns a fair share of operating company's stock.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Answering an advertisement calling for a young man willing to engage in service of danger, Matthew West, ex-service man just returned from France, where he had been captain of engineers, meets Natalie Coolidge, writer of the advertisement, and without being instructed as to his probable duties, is engaged by her, and that same evening introduced to her friends as her fiancé.

CHAPTER II

Miss Coolidge Explains.

For an instant West was absolutely helpless to assert himself. The calm assurance of the girl's voice in this unexpected introduction left his brain paralyzed with bewilderment. Yet his features did not betray his condition, nor did he entirely lose control over himself. Fortunately he was not compelled to speak, as Cable voiced his own surprise fluently.

"Well, well," he exclaimed. "This is certainly startling, Natalie. I am, indeed, bereft of words, yet I congratulate you, sir. Captain—Captain West, I think was the name? You are then in the service, sir?"

"This Is Certainly Startling, Natalie."

"Discharged from the Engineers." "Ah, exactly. I can hardly adjust myself. Friends, come forward. I have to make an announcement extraordinary. It seems this sly mix has arranged a surprise for all of us. Perchance this was the purpose of our little dinner party?"

"Oh, no, Judge," protested Miss Coolidge, her cheeks flushed, yet otherwise perfectly cool and self-possessed. "Really, this was unexpected, even to myself. I was not so much as aware that Captain West was in the city until a very short time ago. I am sure he will bear me out in this statement."

"I could not do otherwise, and be truthful," West felt compelled to admit.

"But what is this all about?" asked a female voice eagerly. "Remember we have not heard, Judge Cable."

"It is my pleasure then," he said gallantly, bowing, and at once instituting himself as master of ceremonies, "to introduce to you, Miss Natalie's fiancé, Captain West—Mrs. Lonsdale, Professor Scott, Miss Margaret Willis, Colonel LeFranc, Mrs. Wilber Somers. Possibly there may be no necessity of my presenting the next gentleman—Mr. Percival Coolidge."

"Oh, but there is," the last mentioned interposed, a tall, rather portly man, with grey hair and mustache, "I must confess this is as much a surprise to me as to any one present. However," he grasped West's hand with apparent cordiality, "I hasten to add my congratulations, and to wish Natalie all the happiness possible."

The group slowly broke up, the members still discussing the undoubted surprise of this announcement. West found himself confronting Colonel LeFranc and Percival Coolidge, the latter instantly engaging him in conversation, evidently seeking more definite information.

"This engagement with my niece," he said uneasily, "must have been rather sudden? Even your name is quite unfamiliar to me."

"It was, indeed," admitted West, who had now completely recovered his nerve, and even begun to enjoy the situation. "Since my return from abroad."

"You were with the army in France?"

"In an engineer regiment. I have been in America only two weeks."

"Ah, indeed. And this is your home?" Realizing that the elder Coolidge was diligently searching for information, West decided the best method would be a full confession.

"Oh, no," he said candidly, "I am from the South—Atlanta, Georgia. My father is a district judge, Robert Peel West, quite widely known, and my mother belonged to the Bullock family. I am a graduate of the University of Virginia, and also of the Massachusetts Polytechnic. Before the war I was connected for a short time with a well-known firm of engineers in this city, but, since my return, I have not resumed professional work. Having been wounded in France, I have felt entitled to a little rest after my return."

"Quite interesting, I am sure," Coolidge turned to the colonel. "You are southern also, I believe?"

"Very much so," was the quick response. "And I chance to know the name of Judge West rather well. I congratulate your niece on her choice of a life companion. There is no better blood in Georgia."

West passed the ensuing evening rather pleasantly, although obliged to be always on his guard against any incautious remark. Mr. Percival Coolidge was outwardly cordial enough, yet his manner continued distinctly reserved, and somewhat cold. West, however, attributed this largely to the nature of the man, and finally dismissed the thought from his mind altogether. The person who continued to puzzle him most was Natalie Coolidge, nor was he able to approach her in any way so as to obtain a whispered private word of guidance. He ventured upon thin ice once or twice most carefully, but the information obtained was infinitesimal, although it bore to some extent on the problem confronting him. The colonel innocently lifted the veil slightly, permitting him to learn that this was a week-end party, and that Miss Coolidge was the mistress of the place, her parents having been dead for two years. Percival Coolidge, her father's brother, and a manufacturer in the city, was her guardian, and the affairs of the estate were not yet entirely liquidated. Beyond this he apparently knew nothing of the family history, which he felt at liberty to communicate.

West was assigned to escort Miss Willis, a tall, willowy blonde, and quite talkative, into dinner, but her conversation ran largely to the theatrical offerings in town, and he found it impossible to change her trend of thought into other channels. Once the smiling Natalie appealed to him, familiarly calling him "Matt" across the table, and he responded with equal intimacy, yet her eyes avoided his, and it was plainly evident to his self-consciousness, that her remark was merely part of the play. More and more her actions mystified and perplexed; he could not discover the key to her hidden motive, or guess at her purpose in this masquerade. Nothing remained but for him to go quietly forward, playing the part assigned. She coolly and deliberately defeated every effort he made to get her alone, and yet this was accomplished in a manner so as not to attract the attention of others. Even Percival Coolidge, who, West felt, was watching them both shrewdly, never suspected the quiet game of hide and seek being played under his very eyes. As the evening progressed West became almost convinced that Natalie's principal object was to deceive this gentleman; that she really cared nothing for what the others might think, or say. It was all a masterpiece of acting, so exceedingly well done, as to finally convince the young man that she was greatly in earnest as to its success. She desired Percival Coolidge to have no lingering doubt of her engagement. And, finding all opportunity of explanation denied him, West yielded to the inevitable, and, for the evening at least, silently accepted his fate.

Nor did circumstances favor him when the company finally broke up, and retired for the night. He had thought this moment might be propitious, but she calmly outgeneraled him again, suddenly bidding the men remain and smoke as long as they pleased, and disappearing herself up the stairway with Miss Willis. West, convinced that her retirement was final, soon sought his own room. It was eleven o'clock of a bright, moonlight night, and, feeling in no degree sleepy, he seated himself at the window to finish his cigar. Again and again his mind reviewed the strange events of the evening, unable to arrive at any definite conclusion. The harder he sought to delve into the mystery, the more obscure it became.

He had, indeed, reached some conclusions already. These might not be correct, yet they were already implanted in his mind. The guests of the night were mere puppets, having no real connection with the game being played, utterly ignorant of what was going on behind the scenes. The only one present having any real part was Percival Coolidge, and West had taken an instinctive dislike to this man. Only one explanation flashed into his mind to account for Miss Coolidge's unexpected announcement of an engagement between them—this would excuse any future intimacy; would enable them to meet alone freely without arousing comment. This appealed to him as the most reasonable explanation of the situation. But beyond this vague guess, it was impossible to delve.

Tired by the uselessness of such thinking West finally sought the bed, and must have slept, although scarcely aware that he had closed his eyes. Some slight noise aroused him. The door leading into the hall, which he had failed to lock, stood partially ajar, and his eyes caught the vague glimpse of a figure gliding swiftly through the opening. With one bound he was upon his feet, springing recklessly forward. The hall was dark, but for a patch of moonlight at the further end. Against this he caught an instant, flitting glimpse of the intruder. It was a woman, yet even as his eyes told him this, she seemed to vanish into thin air—the hall was empty.

Vague and indistinct as was that fleeting vision in the moonlight, West felt no doubt as to the identity of his visitor—the woman was Natalie Coolidge. His one glimpse of her vanishing figure assured him of this fact, and he drew back instantly, unwilling to follow. Where she had gone he neither knew, nor cared. She had come to his room secretly, supposing him asleep, and this surprising knowledge dominated his mind. What could such an act mean? There was mystery here, at least, a mystery beyond his power of discernment. However, this recognition rather hardened him to his task, than otherwise.

It Was a Woman.

This time he locked the outer door carefully, and lay down on the bed, wondering if there would be any further developments. As he attempted to think, he was listening eagerly for the slightest sound of movement in the hall. There was none. He could only wait, and watch for the next move. Perhaps the morning would bring full explanation. With this conception in his mind, his head sought the pillow, and he lapsed into unconsciousness.

The long training of army service caused West to awaken early, while the house was yet quiet, but with the dawn already red in the east. He crossed to the window, and looked out, caught the flutter of a white skirt, and realized instantly that, early as the hour was, Natalie Coolidge was already up and about. He wondered if her presence might not be an invitation for him? Perhaps she had deliberately chosen this early hour, before the others awoke, to explain her strange conduct of the previous evening? At least, there was an opportunity to see and talk with her alone.

He dressed swiftly, and slipped noiselessly downstairs, unlocking the front door, and emerging into the fresh air, without encountering any stray members of the household. He passed beyond a vine-draped arbor before he realized his approach, and straightened up, welcoming him with a little laugh, her eyes full of demure mischief.

"I rather suspected army discipline had not entirely worn off," she said pleasantly, "and that you might still prove to be an early riser."

"And does this expectation account for your presence?"

"Not wholly; it has become a habit with me. However, I promised to be very frank with you, did I not? Then I will begin now; this morning I really hoped I might see you for a moment before the others were stirring—we have so much to talk about."

"It certainly seems so to me," he responded honestly, yet not greatly encouraged by the amusement in her eyes. "Surely you cannot expect real service when given so blindly?"

"No, I do not. I mean to trust you fully. It is the only way; but do you still truly wish to serve?"

"I am enlisted in the cause without reserve," he insisted warmly. "While I learned but little last evening, that little was enough to convince me there is something strange under the surface. Your calling me to your assistance is no joke—you actually need me."

"I need some one on whose judgment and courage I can rely," she answered earnestly, "and I believe now that you are the one. It is rather an odd situation, Captain West, but the circumstances surely justify my action. Perhaps I shall have time to partly explain now."

She seemingly found it difficult to begin her story. The flush deepened on her cheeks, and her lips parted.

"It really seems so ridiculous," she explained at last desperately. "Almost like a dream of fancy, and I hardly know how to put the situation into words. If I were ten years younger I would almost be convinced myself that it was all imaginary, yet everything I tell you is true. I wonder if you will believe me?"

"Do not question that. I realize fully your earnestness."

"Yet I am going to test your credulity, just the same. Those people you met last evening have nothing to do with the story—none of them, at least, unless it may possibly be Percival Coolidge. I am rather afraid of him; I always have been. I believe he knows what all this trouble means, but I do not dare go and talk with him about it. That is really what is the matter, I suppose—there is no one I can talk to; they would only laugh at me."

"My father was Steven Coolidge, and was very wealthy. He did not marry until late in life, and, I have reason to believe it was a great disappointment to his brother Percival that a child was born. Perhaps I ought not to make such a statement, but much has occurred to impress me with his dislike."

"He is your guardian?"

"Yes; you learned that last night?"

"From the colonel; he seemed to enjoy talking, and naturally, I was curious. Has Percival Coolidge wealth of his own?"

"Only what my father left him, which was a considerable sum, and a limited interest in the business. He was very much dissatisfied with his share. Before I was born he had confidently expected to inherit everything."

"The estate then is not settled?"

"Not until I am twenty-five; within a few days now."

"And your mother?"

"She died at my birth."

West leaned forward eagerly. "It is the estate then that troubles you?" he asked swiftly. "You imagine it has wasted?"

"No, not at all. They tell me it has increased in value. Percival Coolidge is a good business man, but something strange is going on behind the scenes. I seem to be fighting against a ghost."

"A ghost?"

"Yes; now don't laugh at me! Do you suppose I would ever have done anything as reckless as advertising for help if I had not been actually desperate? Can you imagine a respectable girl performing so ridiculous an act, as putting her whole trust in a stranger, inviting him to her home, introducing him as her promised husband to her relatives and friends? Why, it almost proves me crazed, and, in a measure, I think I must be. But it is because I have exhausted all ordinary methods. I do not seem to be opposing anything of flesh and blood; I am fighting against shadows. I cannot even explain my predicament to another."

"A Ghost!"

"You must try," he insisted firmly, affected by her evident distress. "I must be told everything if I am to be of any value. A half way confidence can accomplish nothing."

"But it sounds so foolish; I am being haunted! I know that, yet that is all I do know."

"Haunted, in what way?"

"I do not even know that; but by a woman, I think—a woman who must strangely resemble me. She pretends to be me to my friends, to my servants, at my bank. I never see the creature, but I hear of her from others. She has actually drawn checks in my name, imitating my signature, and having them cashed by clerks who know me well. I am constantly reported as being seen at restaurants and hotels where I have not been, and with parties I do not know. This has been going on for a month now. I have endeavored to discuss the situation with a few people, but they only laugh at the strange idea. No one will listen to me seriously."

"And you conceived the thought that perhaps a total stranger might prove more sympathetic?"

"Yes," she admitted, "if he was young and adventurous; provided I interested him at all. It would seem to offer me a chance; and then, if unknown to the party impersonating me, such a one might learn the truth unsuspected. Do you believe me, Captain?"

"I have no reason to doubt what you say. I mean to do my very best to uncover the mystery. You have these fraudulent checks?"

"Yes; one was returned to me only yesterday."

"I shall want them, together with one you drew yourself. You do not mind if I ask you one or two rather direct personal questions?"

"Assuredly not!"

"What caused you to announce our engagement?"

She laughed, but from sudden embarrassment.

"It was silly, wasn't it? Really I do not exactly know; a sudden impulse, and the words were spoken. It occurred to me that our intimacy could be accounted for in no other way."

"So I supposed. Well, there is no harm done, but now, you understand, we must play out the game."

"Play it out?"

"Surely; act natural, permit no suspicion to be aroused. Even if I should feel impelled by duty, to kiss you, it is my privilege."

"Why—why, you cannot mean that?"

"Oh, but I do. This is no threat that I shall insist on carrying the matter to such an extreme, yet I must insist on the right if it becomes necessary."

Her eyes fell, the breath pulsing between her lips.

"I am not afraid," she said rather proudly. "Yes, I will play the game."

"Good! I knew you would. And now for the second question; why did you come to my room last night?"

She stared at him incredulously.

"Your room! I came to your room! Assuredly not; what can you mean?"

"Then it must be that I have already encountered the ghost," he declared smilingly. "For the very counterpart of you certainly visited me. I had a clear view of her. I would have sworn she was you."

"A woman?"

"Absolutely a woman; flesh and blood, no doubt as to that."

"When was this?"

"After midnight."

"It was not I, Captain West; please believe that—but hush; there comes Percival Coolidge!"

ADA COLLEGE HAS GREATEST GROWTH

East Central Leads Whole State for Increase in Enrollment.

East Central Teachers college showed the greatest increase in enrollment of all high educational institutions in the state during the past year, according to figure recently released by R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of education.

An average increase in attendance of 22 per cent was shown. Gain made by the Ada school was 53 per cent.

It was 47 per cent at Central State Normal school at Edmond and 42 per cent at Southwestern State Normal at Weatherford. Northwestern State Normal reported an increase of 25 per cent.

The second largest increase was reported at the newly established school of Mines at Miami, where it amounted to 50 per cent. Oklahoma A and M. college with less than half the number of students that attend the state university, registered exactly the same increase. Hence the percentages differ from 12 per cent for the universities to 26 per cent for the agricultural college. Enrollment at the university November last year was 1,434 as against 1,569 this year.

Only One School Lost.

The only institution which made a report showing a loss in enrollment was the Baptist university at Shawnee, where a decrease of 6 per cent was shown. The enrollment last year was 315, the report showed, while it was 295 this year, a loss of twenty students.

Oklahoma Military college at Claremore showed no loss and no gain, the president reported, because the capacity of the school is fixed at 108 and was reached both years, with a waiting list.

The Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha showed a gain of 11 percent this year. The University Preparatory school at Tonkawa made an increase of 10 percent. Gain at the school for the deaf at Sulphur was 1 percent, but, was kept down by lack of facilities, the superintendent reported.

Report from the University of Tulsa showed that enrollment was proceeding at two points and that exact figures were not available, but on the reporting date they were estimated at 200 students.

Small agricultural colleges located at various points reported gains. The best reported was at the Murray school at Tishomingo, where the increase was 32 percent. The Cameron school at Lawton showed a gain of 25 percent. Each of these schools has about 200 this year.

The total number of students enrolled in the fifteen reporting schools on September 22, was 9,881. The reporting schools were as follows: Oklahoma State university, Central State normal, East Central normal, Northwestern normal, Southwestern normal, Oklahoma College for Women, Miami School of Mines, University Preparatory school, Oklahoma Military academy, A. and M. college, Cameron School of Agriculture, Murray School of Agriculture, Baptist university, University of Tulsa, and the School for the Deaf.

The schools not reporting were: Northeastern normal, Southeastern normal, the Wilburton School of Mines, Connor Agricultural school, Phillips university, Oklahoma City college and the State School for the Blind.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON ODD FELLOWSHIP

Odd Fellowship was introduced into the United States in 1819 and the order has had a marvelous growth. For more than a century the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs have carried on their missions of mercy and promoting the spirit of fraternalism. The three links have become an emblem recognized everywhere as certifying to loyalty to the cause of law and proclaiming that the wearer is a person who loves his fellow man.

History in Oklahoma
The first lodge in Indian Territory was organized at Caddo and the first in Oklahoma Territory at Norman. In April, 1893, the Grand Lodge of Oklahoma was organized at Oklahoma City and in August of the same year the Grand Lodge of the Indian Territory was organized at Lehigh. After the advent of statehood it was decided to consolidate the two and this was accomplished in 1910.

Homes Established
At the earliest possible day the grand lodges established homes for their dependent, the Indian Territory at Checotah and Oklahoma at Carmen. As there was ample need for two both were continued after the consolidation of the grand lodges. At present there are 60 inmates at Checotah and 148 at Carmen. During the past year the order spent $12,463.50 in maintaining the home at Checotah and $59,457.78 for the one at Carmen.

However, the order does not stop there. It has a system of pensioning widows with children so that they may be able to remain in their own homes. During the year $10,521.50 was paid out for this purpose. The fraternity gave relief to 2,154 distressed brothers, 72 widows and 73 orphans not in the homes. The order buried 259 brothers and the wives of 201. Other cases of special relief totalled 612, making a grand total of 3,411 cases of relief afforded to persons outside of the homes.

On June 30 of the present year the membership of the subordinate lodges of the state totalled 48,493 and that of the Rebekahs 25,762. The Odd Fellows showed a net gain of 1777 since the preceding report and Mrs. Black, president of the assembly, stated that by the close of the year the increase in membership of the Rebekahs would be around 5,000.

STILLMAN DENIED DIVORCE TODAY

CARMEL, N. Y., Sept. 28. — James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, was denied a decree on his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Anne U. Stillman, and baby Guy Stillman was declared legitimate in the findings of Daniel Gleason, referee in the case, which was filed here today.

The referee's decision was a complete victory for Mrs. Stillman. Not only was her defense upheld, but the referees also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman has mis-conducted himself with Florence Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leeds had two children born.

Adultery Charge Dropped
In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges that her banker husband also mis-conducted himself with two other women, identified only as "Helen" and "Clara", Referee Gleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegations of adultery.

The referee wrote that the testimony adduced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charges that Mrs. Stillman mis-conducted herself with Fred Beauvais, the part Indian guide alleged by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, was sufficient to justify him in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against him.

A careful examination, however, of all the testimony, said his report "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

UNCLE SAM WILL MAKE WORLD MAP

American Section Alone to Require Ten Years, Artists Declare.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. —Uncle Sam is slowly progressing on a new map of the country, to be a part of a new world map, based upon a simple system proposed by American representatives in 1903, and accepted at international conferences. It will be the result of years of effort by map makers who have desired a system of cartography whereby the same scale of distances should be used in a world map, with lettering and symbols uniform. The American map is expected to be completed in ten or twelve years.

Each country will map the territories and waters under its own jurisdiction, and the Geographical Survey of the United States Interior Department is making the maps of this country. The globe is to be divided into 1642 sections. Each section is designated by a distinctive letter and number combination, in addition to a name derived from the locality mapped. Each sheet, covering one section, will cover six degrees of longitude and four degrees of latitude. The sheets are numbered from 1 to 60, beginning at the 180th meridian of longitude, and gridding the globe to the eastward; and are lettered from A to V, north and south, with the equator as a starting point. The north and south polar regions are to be shown in circular sections from the 88th parallel of latitude, and lettered Z-North and Z-South.

Uniform World Map
The main purpose of this international map, which will be drawn on the scale of one to one-millionth, is to furnish a complete world map of uniform drawing, thus obviating different scales or distances, and to enable map makers and readers of every country to understand the map of every other, even though they do not understand any but their own language. There will be shown by the outlines of land and water, with depths of water and heights of land; streams and river systems, or drainage, in the map maker's parience, roads, rail and trolley lines, towns and cities, and contours.

While the scale which is approximately sixteen miles to the inch, will allow of very inclusive work, many details of small towns and streams will be omitted.

To show heights and depths, a scheme of hypsometric colors has been adopted. This will grade from a very light green, for shallow waters, to the familiar tints of deep blue for the increasing depth of seas; and from light yellow for low countries and valleys, to a deep brown red for heights. Contours will be shown in sharp black lines, at intervals of 100 metres. The metric system was adopted for all numericals, and high points, peaks and mountains will be shown in metres. Streams and rivers will be shown in blue, roads in red, cities and rail lines in black. The names of features will be shown in the color of that feature, to obviate confusion.

Modified Polyconic
The projection is based upon a modified polyconic system, wherein meridians of longitude are all in straight lines. The lines of latitude will be only slightly curving on each sheet, because of the large scale. This system is of advantage in the adjustment of adjoining sheets.

As many political boundaries will be shown as the density of the data permits. For instance, the map of the United States will show state, county, reservation, land grant, and other Land Office lines. The control, that is, positions determined astronomically and by triangulation, to insure accuracy, drainage, including rivers, streams, creeks, swamps, canals and other water bodies, and culture, that is, towns, cities, railways, roads and highways, all constitute a "base map", which is compiled as the first step in the work and which will be made available by the survey for state and other maps. The completed map, in size about 30 by 20 inches, is of copper engraved in the most delicate and strong detail, and will be available at the survey. It is reduced in size to form a scale of eight miles to the inch. The production is by photolithography.

Six Months' Work

The sections thus far completed have required six months to compile. The work, however, for lack of extra appropriation, is being done concurrently with other map work. It is estimated that the cost for the international map will be from $15 to $35 per thousand miles of area. The survey, desirous of having the most accurate and up to date data upon the map, gathers the materials from dozens of sources, and does not consider an area completed until every source of information has been drawn upon. These include: the survey's regular information gathered in the making of the national topographic map, which was started fifty years ago, other governmental map-making sections, state and county maps, private maps and army and navy charts.

The details of the international map were accepted by nine world powers at conferences in 1909 and 1913. While it is popularly known as the One-Millionth Map of the World, its correct title is The International Map of the World on the Scale of 1:1,000,000.

BUCK JONES GETS YEAR IN VERDICT

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Attempt to Rape Notice of Appeal Filed.

Buck Jones, charged with rape, was found guilty by a jury in district court Wednesday afternoon, not of the offense with which he was charged but of attempt to commit the act, and was sentenced to a year and a day in the state penitentiary. Notice of appeal has been filed.

The jury which tried him was composed of Sam Cox, E. P. Tingle, G. W. Grady, J. E. Logan, R. D. Millikan, H. J. Angle, J. G. Chadwick, C. H. Miller, H. B. Williams, W. B. Sanders, C. F. Childers, and W. F. Leach. Jones was charged with a criminal assault upon 9-year old Mildred Jones, his niece. The state further alleged that he transmitted gonorrhea to the child.

Shortly before noon Wednesday, attorneys finished their arguments and the case went to jury. After being closeted but a few minutes, jurymen came out for lunch but resumed their deliberations at 12:30, reporting with a verdict two hours later.

By agreement of attorneys the T. J. Bassinger murder case was changed to Hughes county for trial. Bassinger was tried once here several months ago but there was a hung jury, 11 to 1 for conviction. The change of venue places this case on a criminal docket which comes up for hearing at Holdenville in December.

GIRL IS MISSING FROM HER GRAVE; WOMAN QUIZZED

Wife of Garage Man Held for Questioning by Police Today.

CHARRED BODY FOUND

Torso, Thought to be That of Man, May be of Girl Buried Recently.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—Gertrude Brenn, 22 years old, wife of Harry Brenn, proprietor of a garage at Oakville, Mo., who disappeared after a fire destroyed his place of business last Tuesday, today was subjected to further questioning by the police, who are investigating the mysterious theft of the body of Miss Schneider, 18, who was buried a month ago, from its grave in a local cemetery.

A charred torso which at first was thought to have been that of Brenn, who was believed to have been burned to death, was found in the ruins of the fire, but after it was examined the autopsy surgeon declared it was the body of a woman.

Detectives announced they were working on the theory that the burned torso may be the body of the Schneider girl.

Carried Life Insurance. Brenn has been missing since Monday night, when his wife said he answered a call for road services. He is reported to have carried sixteen thousand dollars in life insurance.

Mrs. Brenn is mourning her husband as dead. When arrested, mourning clothing was found in her possession. During cross questioning by the police, she steadfastly denied knowledge of her husband's whereabouts, saying that she believed he perished in the fire.

The police reported finding a broken shawl, a piece of clothing thought to have been part of a shroud, and an electric flash light in the debris of the garage.

Mrs. Brenn, who has a child one year old, told detectives she requested that the body of her husband be cremated so that she would be able to convey his remains back to her home in Germany, where they were married while Brenn was in the American Army of Occupation.

Pair Charged With Adultery Released After Preliminary

Lee Perry and Alice King, both Indians of the Steadman community, were released Wednesday by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown following their preliminary hearing on a charge of adultery. Justice Brown held that testimony given by the state was insufficient.

A complex angle is said to have been added to the case by the fact that Mack King, complaining witness, had been mentioned as defendant in a divorce action filed recently in district court by Alice King, and now pending. A 13-year old boy appeared as principal witness for the prosecution.

At present rate of increase the world's population will reach four billion in 1914.

ARABS OPPOSED TO MANDATES OF GREAT BRITAIN

JERUSALEM—The Arab delegation which was sent to London a year ago to protest against the establishment of the Jewish homeland in Palestine has returned and given out a summary of its achievements.

Musa Mazim Pasha Hussein, chairman of the delegation, says in his report that whereas they did not accomplish all that they had hoped for, nevertheless they had aroused public sentiment in England and had won the sympathy of many leading persons connected with the British government. The report was made to the Fifth Muslim Christian congress, which was brought together at Nabulus for the purpose of hearing what the delegation had to say. At the same time the congress outlined its future plans.

It decided to boycott the new constitution, which it considers inimical to the cause of the Arabs; to take no part in the elections, and to dissuade all Mohammedans and Christians from serving on the legislative council.

It urged upon the Arabs the necessity of standing together and refusing to sell lands to the Jews.

A manifesto was sent out from the congress to all Mohammedans and Christians of the country in the following words: "We the delegates of the Arab people of Palestine in the fifth congress held at Nabulus, pledge ourselves to God, to history and to the nation to continue our endeavors looking toward the independence of our country, to bring about Arab unity by all legal and lawful means, and to refuse the Jewish National Home, and Zionist immigration."

It was decided also that a trade boycott of the Jews be instituted, the ways and means thereof to be decided upon later.

The British mandate in Palestine was officially proclaimed in Jerusalem September 12, upon which occasion Lord Allenby, British high commissioner for Egypt; Sir Herbert Samuel, Palestine commissioner, and Emir Abdullah, the ruler of Trans-Jordan, took the oaths of office. Sir Herbert Samuel, in his inaugural address, said that the Holy Land was about to enter upon a period of peace and progress under British dominion, and that as representative of King George he would conduct the administration without fear or favor; with justice to all, and with impartiality for none.

The executive committee of the Moslem-Christian Society did not attend the ceremonies as a protest against the mandate and the constitution, and it called a general strike of the Arab followers to the same end.

What Is a Good Shoe?

That question can be answered by asking another one—What is a good foot?

A good foot doesn't ache. It doesn't sag down in the middle. It is springy in action. It doesn't easily get tired. It is free from callouses and corns. And it is good to look at because it isn't deformed.

And a good shoe doesn't make the foot tired. It supports the arch. It is flexible and responds to every movement. It is so comfortable that the foot isn't conscious of wearing it. And it is smart-looking, long-wearing and shape-keeping.

Good shoes and good feet travel together.

Edwin Clapp Shoes will give you that comfort, value and satisfaction we have described. Your feet will feel good in them—because for sixty-nine years no finer shoes have been made on this continent.

That Oklahoma faces a serious crisis cannot be doubted. The outcome of the November election will definitely determine whether or not constructive state government is to be maintained, or whether a revolutionary program is to replace it. This campaign has risen above petty party politics and has assumed the proportions of patriotism. Men and women who pay the taxes and who desire economical state government, honestly administered, are interested and urged to hear these speakers.
